THE ACCOUNT BOOK OF PASTOR STORCH

By Ute-Ingrid Seidler

"1792 - June 12th - married - Michael Holzhauser and Elisab(eth) Schuman - paper money - 10 s(hillings)."

The preceding record of a Rowan County marriage has been preserved because Pastor Storch kept careful records of all income received for his services. Since these services included weddings, confirmations, funerals, and the loan of books and money, his account book, which is now at the Lutheran Synod House in Salisbury, provides a valuable source of historical and genealogical information. Access to this record has, in the past, been limited by the 18th Century German script in which it was written.

The contents of the account book, several of the more useful parts of which will be published in this journal, are generally as follows: From 1785, income and expenses in Germany; journey from Germany to North Carolina; autobiography; expenses for purchase and improvement of house; monies received from congregations in Salisbury, Organ Church, and the Irish Settlement; confirmations; marriages, funerals, and baptisms; books loaned; purchases and amounts owed for loans and services; and a list of persons who ordered books from Germany.

Only two parts of the book were written in narrative form; and their translations follow:

(From Germany to North Carolina)

Departed Fresenhede for North Carolina in North America on April 16, 1788. The reason for this long and dangerous journey was the following:

A preacher sent from Germany to North Carolina in 1773, the still living Adolph Nussmann, requested some assistant preachers from the Abbot Velthusen in Helmstedt. Abbot Velthusen chose me for, and persuaded me to take, the journey. By permission and order of the Duke, I was examined by 5 Helmstedt professors and ordained by Abbot Velthusen as a preacher for North Carolina. The travel expenses were all paid, and at the same time I was given the requested written guarantee by our ruler that if I should return after several years, I would then receive my normal promotion in the homeland. Under such conditions I then went to sea with trust in God on May 4th, 1788, and arrived happily in America, namely first in the city Baltimore on June 27th of the same year. Thus the whole voyage lasted seven weeks, five days. In Baltimore I found a good kindly reception, and after a pleasant six weeks stay there I travelled by water to Charleston in 6 days. In Charleston I tarried only 14 days, and rode on a horse, which I bought there for 11 pounds sterling, to Pastor Nussmann, a distance, the way I went, of 300 English miles. In the beginning of the month of September, (17)88, I came to Mr. Nussmann, who has a congregation at Buffalo Creek. After I had rested there, we made arrangements with the congregations who wanted me as their preacher. Three congregations elected and called me: Namely, the one in Salisbury where I first made my residence; the second on the upper Second Creek, called Organ Church, 10 miles from the town of Salisbury. The third, of the Peint Church, which, however, I had to give up again, and thus for now only 2 congregations, the one in Salisbury and the Organ Church, which have promised me in writing 80 pounds North Carolina paper money yearly. The funeral services and weddings will be paid separately, usually with a 1/8 Thaler. In the Organ Church I began my service the 23rd Sunday after Trinity, and in Salisbury the 24th Sunday after Trinity. On January 7th, 1789, I started preaching once a month to the congregation in the Irish Settlement, for which 13 to 14 pounds N.C. are promised to me annually.

(An Autobiographical Sketch)

I, Carl August Gottlieb Storch, was born in Helmstedt in the Duchy of Braunschweig on June 16, in the year 1764. My father's name was Georg Friedrich Storch, a native of the town Danneberg. He was a merchant in Helmstedt. My mother's name was von Asseburg. In 1799 I was confirmed by Abbot Velthusen. Thereafter I attended the high school of Helmstedt for 3 years, and after being declared qualified by the director of the same, Professor Mindeberg, in 1782 I became a student at the University of Helmstedt. After I devoted myself there for 3 years to theological studies, in 1785 Abbot Velthusen recommended me to Major von Scheither in Gifthorn as private tutor for Junker [young nobleman] von Hodenberg, where I remained for only one year because the Junker von Hodenberg was chosen as a page in Hannover. Afterwards, in 1786, I went to Fresenhede near Bremen as the teacher for the merchant Friesen's children. And after I had been there for 2 years a call and order came from Abbot Velthusen to go as a preacher to North Carolina. I was examined and ordained to the office of preacher, in May 1788 I departed from Germany, and arrived in America at the end of June of the same year. God be praised that until now he has so wonderfully and fatherly led me and in danger kept me safe. I chose my first residence in Salisbury with Lewis Beard, where I took room and board on November 8, 1788.

On January 14, 1790, I married Christina, daughter of the late Joh. Ludw. Bahrdt, resident and tanner of Sale[sbury] in North Carolina, his third legitimate daughter. She was born on November 9th in the Year of Our Lord 1769.

I have read Cabarrus Co 1850 but was not successful in finding these people.

I found JOHN RITCHIE age 52 but wife was Celia age 45

Found 2 David Winecoffs one age 72 wife Cillina age 38, the other David age 44, wife Mary

" only 1 Fesperman, Michael age 48, no wife

Mary Walcher went to Il. and did not marry,was age 66 in 1850, b 1784 N.C.

If Barbara was a widow in 1829, she very likely married again and only a marriage record or family record can find her. She was not on 1850 Cabarrus as Barbara Winecoff.

Sally or Sarah married John Harkey, they came to Il. and died there, see history

Susan Walcher came to Il. also and did not marry, was 60 in 1850 born 1790 N.C.

Evas Walcher, have not found anywhere.

I imagine that John Harkey and Sarah were also living in Iredell Co, since Daniel's plantation borders on John's.
Note there is also a Henry Walcher apparently in Iredell (1830)
There are Weatherspoons in Mtgry Co., Il. so they too must have migrated to Il.

I have ordered the 1850 census of Iredell and Rowan Cos and will search further for thes listed above.

There was no mention of anything being given to the girls in the copy of the will that I have from Lyn Reiner of Litchfield, Il.

John and Daniel Walcher came to Montgomery Co., Il. and raised their families and died there. See histories.

INTRODUCTION

The Act for the first census to be taken was passed at the second session of the First Congress and was signed by President Washington on March 1,1790.

This census was to include free white males over sixteen years of age,free white males under sixteen years of age,free white females,all other free persons and slaves.

These lists for Virginia,as well as several other states,were destroyed when the British burnt Washington during the War of 1812 so an effort was made to locate duplicates but there seemed to be only some copies of State enumerations extant.

My effort has been to make use of the first personal property tax lists for those counties then extant in order to supply this deficiency. The lists are not absolutely conclusive since some men did not pay taxes if they were indigent,exempt for physicial disabilities or if they held certain political or military offices.However,in some instances we find that some of the latter paid on some of their personalty.

Ordinarily it would have seemed wiser to have published the tax payers as they occurred in the original lists but in all but ten of the counties they have already been letter grouped by the enumerators so that any value as to neighbors has been destroyed.

Fayette and Lincoln Counties of the present Kentucky have been included,then being in Virginia, but the lists for Jefferson County having been removed to Kentucky could not be included as I am only using those lists in our State Archives.

The first tax assesments were ordered to be made in the year 1782 but some of them are not to be found so they were used for the extant counties,not included in the first census,at the first date to be found: Accomac for the year 1787; Auguste for the year 1782; Bedford for the year 1782; Berkeley for the year 1782;Botetourt for 1784; Brunswick for 1782; Buckingham for the year 1782; Campbell County for 1785; Caroline for 1783;Charles City for 1783; Culpeper County for 1783; Dinwiddie County for the year 1782; Elizabeth City for the year 1782; Fauquier County for the year 1782; Fayette,for the year 1787; Goochland County for 1782; Hardy County for the year 1786;Henrico County for the year 1782; Henry County for 1782; James City County for the year 1782; King George County for the year 1782; King & Queen County 1782; King William County 1782; Lincoln,1787; Louisa County year 1782; Loudon County 1782; Lunenburg County 1782; Montgomery County 1782; Northampton County 1782; Prince George County 1782; Prince William County 1782; Rockbridge County 1782;Southampton County 1782; Spotsylvania,1782; Washington County 1782; Westmoreland County 1783; York County 1784.

Welcome!

"Welcome to the Cabarrus Black Boys Chapter. We are located in Concord, North Carolina. We have a Concord Museum, the Historic Cabarrus Courthouse, and a wonderful local history room in the Cannon Memorial Library. There are many beautiful old homes in Historic Downtown Concord, antique stores, and unique restaurants to spend your afternoon in. Concord is full of history and love of this great country. Also, just a few miles out of Concord are the Old Reed Gold Mine and the Bost Grist Mill."

"... nine young men blackened their faces with soot..."

On June 25, 1914, sixteen patriotic young women of Concord, North Carolina, Cabarrus County, met in the home of Mrs. W. W. Flowe and organized the Cabarrus Black Boys Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

The name, Cabarrus Black Boys, honored nine patriots who became famous for a daring deed when troubles were brewing that resulted in the Revolutionary War. In 1771 Governor Tryon, expecting action from rebellious settlers, had a wagon train of powder and supplies shipped from the port of Charleston, South Carolina, to Hillsboro, North Carolina, where it would be ready for any uprising.

Showing their determination for the cause of liberty, these nine young men blackened their faces with soot and thwarted the Governor's effort by destroying the whole load at what was then known as Phifer's Mill, about three miles north of Concord.

This action by these heroes, who later became soldiers in the Revolution, is a proud memory in Cabarrus history. In 1916 the chapter placed a fountain on the Court House lawn in their honor and in 1926 they marked a large rock near Jackson Training School behind which some of the action took place.

"... nine young men black and dark faces with one..."

A History of the Cabarrus Black Boys

In the 1770s, Cabarrus was still a part of Mecklenberg County, with Charlotte Town referred to as a "Hornet's Nest" by Lord Cornwallis for good reason. In the southeastern part of Mecklenberg lived a number of Scotch-Irish Presbyterian farmers along the banks and tributaries of Rocky River Creek. Their sympathies were with the colonists who opposed the Tories. The Whigs were on alert, and 16 miles northeast of Charlotte was a settlement named Rocky River. There existed as much of the true spirit of patriotism as ever existed.

The protests and demonstrations had become violent. Governor Tryon dispatched General Hugh Waddell to Salisbury with instructions to disperse the Regulators. He was to raise more militiamen from the Western portion of North Carolina. Wagonloads of munitions of were procured from Charleston, South Carolina, and conveyed to Charlotte. From some suspicious movements amongst the friends of liberty, wagons could not be found to transport the supplies for Waddell's use. Opposition to the British government was beginning. The Whig teamsters refused to move the shipment.

The King's Magistrate seized three wagons by force to haul the supplies. They left Charlotte and were headed thrrough the Rocky River section of the county, where nine young men pledged themselves, by a most solemn obligation, not to disclose the secret of "The Gunpowder Plot" to save their fellow countrymen. The nine boys were all born near the Rocky River Church.

To prevent detection, they disguised themselves by blackening their faces with soot, and started out towards the rendezvous on foot. Two of the brothers met their father coming from a local mill with two horses loaded with meal. The "Black Boys" demanded of their father, the horses, and ordered him to dismount. They placed the meal on top of a large rock to protect it from wild hogs. The father pleaded with the "supposed strangers" for the privilege of his horses to get the meal home, but all was in vain. Off the brothers went to rejoin their seven comrades. This band, wrought up with patriotic upon the wagon train encamped on Phifer's Hill, near Concord.

The guards and drivers were not expecting trouble, and they were busy setting up camp for the night when they were surprised and captured by the patriots. The men stove in the kegs of powder, tore the blankets into shreds, collected some of the powder and flints. They made a fuse that led some distance from the pile. One of the boys fired his pistol into the pile causing a tremendous explosion. When the news of the exploit reached Governor Tryon he was outraged. English pride had suffered a blow that mere replacement of the powder would not heal.

The boys fled the vicinity, and were driven by the King's patrols as far as Georgia. They here hunted like wild beasts. For four long years, they eluded their captors, worried their pursuers, until the spirit of liberty grew and blossomed into the 1775 Mecklenberg Declaration of Independence.

The "Black Boys" gave their country an abiding pledge of their attachment to the cause of liberty, which they promptly redeemed whenever their services were needed. All through the stormy times, these brave fellows never lost an opportunity to a common cause, always faithful and earnest.

Early Lutheran Baptisms and Marriages in Southeastern Pennsylvania: The Records of Rev. John Casper Stoever from 1730 to 1779

John C., Rev. Stoever

One of the first clergymen to serve the early Pennsylvania-German settlers, John Casper Stoever maintained a ministry in southeastern Pennsylvania for a period of fifty years, during which time he kept a record of the baptisms and marriages he performed in his missionary travels. Stoever's journal, which was written in German, was translated and published in a limited edition, without an index, in 1896. Copies of the work have been eagerly sought after but have not been available for years, for which reason we are pleased to publish this reprint edition, adding to it the index so sadly lacking in the original.

Immigrants to Pennsylvania, 1600s – 1800s CD-ROM This week I had a chance to use a new CD-ROM disk produced by the Banner Blue Division of genealogy.com (formerly known as Broderbund). "Immigration Records: Immigrants to Pennsylvania, 1600s – 1800s" works in conjunction with Family Tree Maker version 3.02 for either Windows or Macintosh. It also works with the free Family Archive Viewer, version 3.02 or higher. None of this software is included on the "Immigrants to Pennsylvania, 1600s – 1800s" CD-ROM; you must obtain it separately. I have written frequently about how to use the BannerBlue/Broderbund CD-ROMs with Family Tree Maker, so this week I will skip over the mechanics of that process. Instead, I will focus on the data included on this CD-ROM disk.

"Immigrants to Pennsylvania, 1600s-1800s" was produced in collaboration with the Genealogical Publishing Company. The CD-ROM contains scanned images of several different books that have previously and places of residence in Pennsylvania.

"Quaker Arrivals At Philadelphia, 1682-1750, Being a List of Certificates of Removal Received at Philadelphia Monthly Meeting of Friends" - This volume consists of a chronological list of Quaker immigrants who registered, upon their arrival in Philadelphia, with the Philadelphia Monthly Meeting of Friends. Since a large number of the Quakers who immigrated into the Province of Pennsylvania took up residence in Philadelphia, the Philadelphia Monthly Meeting of Friends was the largest Quaker meeting in the province. Based on the certificates of removal from the Meetings of Friends of which they were members in other countries and colonies, listing of an individual generally provides the following information: name, date of certificate, former place of residence, former meeting, date of receipt, and other details of quaint and useful interest. For genealogical purposes, these removal records are important because they tell you where your ancestor lived before moving to Philadelphia.

"Emigrants To Pennsylvania, 1641-1819, A Consolidation of Ship Passenger Lists from 'The Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography'" - This collection of ship passenger lists from "The Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography" ranges from brief name lists to full-blown articles giving passengers' places of origin, occupations, wives and children, dates of arrival, etc. With minor exceptions these lists document the ships' arrivals at the port of Philadelphia between 1682 and 1819 and identify approximately 6,000 immigrants, mainly British and German, the majority being named in two extensive lists of indentured servants and apprentices. Most of these lists were transcribed from manuscripts in the possession of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania.

"Pennsylvania German Pioneers, A Publication of the Original Lists of Arrivals in the Port of Philadelphia from 1727 to 1808" 2 Volumes - The most complete collection of colonial passenger lists ever published, these two volumes comprise all the original lists of persons who arrived in the port of Philadelphia between 1727 and 1808. The lists were assembled from state archives and give the names of 38,000 immigrants, names of ships, dates of arrival, and places of origin. Since no other port maintained such extensive and continuous records, this work is foremost among compilations of its kind. Volume I covers the period 1727-1775 and contains 324 ship passenger lists, including captains' lists, signers of the oath of allegiance, and signers of the oath of abjuration. Volume II covers the period 1785-1808 and includes 182 additional lists, in many cases giving ages, occupations, and birthplaces. All names and variant spellings are listed in the Index, which comprises some 450 pages and 50,000 references. This publication is a reprint of the work originally compiled for the Pennsylvania German Society.

"Names Of Foreigners Who Took The Oath Of Allegiance To The Province And State Of Pennsylvania, 1727-1775 With Foreign Arrivals, 1786-1808" - This work is a comprehensive list of "foreigners" (mostly Germans) who immigrated to Pennsylvania between the years 1727 and 1775, and again during the years 1786-1808. The following information is available in this book: full name, the name of the ship on which a person sailed, date of arrival, port of origin, and, in some instances, ages, names of wives, and names of children. With an index of about 35,000 references.

"A Collection Of Upwards Of Thirty Thousand Names Of German, Swiss, Dutch, French And Other Immigrants In Pennsylvania From 1727 To 1776" - This work consists mostly of 319 ship passenger lists. Arranged by date of the ship's arrival, each passenger list notes the name of the ship and its origin. Also included is a listing of over a thousand settlers who came to Pennsylvania from other states. There is an index of ships and an 84-page index of surnames.

"Record Of Indentures Of Individuals Bound Out As Apprentices, Servants, Etc. And Of German And Other Redemptioners In The Office Of The Mayor Of The City Of Philadelphia, October 3, 1771, To October 5, 1773" - Excerpted from "The Pennsylvania-German Society Proceedings and Addresses," XVI, 1907, the vast majority of the passengers cited herein sailed from British, Irish, or Dutch ports, though some passengers certainly were of German origin. Altogether about 5,000 individuals are listed, and the information given for each of them includes the port of embarkation, exact date of arrival, name of person to whom apprenticed or indentured, residence, occupation, term of service, and exact price of apprenticeship or indenture.

"Passenger Arrivals At The Port Of Philadelphia, 1800-1819" - The Philadelphia "baggage lists" are the oldest federal passenger lists in existence. Compiled in accordance with a law made to exempt in-coming passengers from paying duty on their personal belongings, they provide proof of immigration in the first two decades of the 19th century. In the lists are the names of the passengers, and in many cases there is data on such items as passengers' ages, nationalities, former places of residence, occupations, destinations, and the names and relationships of accompanying family members. In all, there are about 4,767 ship lists with about 40,000 passengers identified--most from Great Britain (especially Northern Ireland) and Germany. For convenience all of the passengers' names have been arranged in a single alphabetical list.

books. These images obviously contain every word from the original books, but the text is not easily copied into a word processor or other program. Instead, each page is treated as a separate picture.

I found that the CD-ROM disk contains an excellent index to all the names mentioned. I was able to type in a last name and then (optionally) a first name. Within a second or two I was looking at a list of all the occurrences of that name. I could then click on any occurrence, and almost immediately I was looking at the original page that contained a reference to that name. I was able to print any page on my local printer. The images that I found were always very clear and easy to read, both on the screen and on the printed copy made by my rather ancient LaserJet printer. The printed copy also shows the page number and contains a reference to the original book that contained this particular page. I wish that all CD-ROM disks included such source references on their printouts!

The "Immigration Records: Immigrants to Pennsylvania, 1600s – 1800s" CD-ROM is an excellent reference for anyone researching English Quaker, German, Dutch, Welsh, Scottish or Irish ancestry in Pennsylvania. To be sure, the data on this CD-ROM has been available for some time in printed volumes. However, you would need to pay two or three hundred dollars to purchase all the books in printed form. Instead, you can obtain the same information on CD-ROM for $29.99 (U.S. funds).

For more information about the "Immigration Records: Immigrants to Pennsylvania, 1600s – 1800s" CD-ROM, look at:

Pennsylvania German Pioneers

Search for: Submit Query

Description: This database contains the original lists of German pioneers who arrived at the port of Philadelphia from the years 1727 to 1808. These lists of early arrivals in Pennsylvania are significant because in none of the other ports of the American colonies, through which German settlers entered, were such lists prepared or preserved. In Philadelphia alone did the authorities insist on the preparation of careful and detailed lists of arrivals. About three hundred family associations, tracking their ancestry to these pioneers, meet annually in Pennsylvania.

Hi, he is some FARRIS info you requested.

Junius Farris "June" is the son of Walter Farris and Sarah Looney.

Cornelius Farris is also the son of Walter and Sarah, not "Martha".

Kermit Farris was set up according to my "source". She said that he had killed Oscar Gilbert's son, Orby (she thinks that's his name). Kermit did a little jail time but, not much. The story is that Orby kept beating him up and so he shot him. Anyway, after he got out of jail, he was invited into Oscar Gilbert's house (Orby's uncle) and was invited to sit in a chair by the window and was shot through the window and killed. I think I've figured out mother's reluctance to like Gerri. I told her Gerri was related to the Gilberts! Gerri is growing on her though and now she does like her. Anyway, they never jailed anyone in Kermit's death. Don't think that they were looking too hard for a killer. Mom, of course, won't tell me the rest of the story. She afraid that I'd do something like put it on the board for all of America to look at! Now, would I do such a thing. She is so-o-o-o funny about the dirt. Heaven forbid, you can blackmail me now, don't tell her I wrote this all out. She was really silly said that Kermit was "ambushed" I gleaned what I've written from what she said.

Remember, go to bed early. While you're there tossing and turning cause you can't go to sleep this early, remember Teresa is reading your mind.
Love, Teresa

Hello Teresa,

TK>Yes! I'm interested in the FARRIS stuff and TURNER stuff. Yes, I can take TK>the big floppy. I'm using PAF. I've never imported anyone elses stuff
TK>except for when John sent me everything at one time and then he really TK>walked me through it. I was knee deep, out of my league when I called TK>him. He is a saint, so at least ought to be. I'm working at putting in the TK>Farris info that I have in the computer. I'll send you a copy of mine
TK>if you'd like. Please let me pay for postage, etc. let me know how much.

I'll send my gedcom. The Farris and Turner Info ar in a group of files that were sent to me. I send all the files files to you a long with a descendant chart. I am not able to extract all the info from them. I have a program that will make a Descendant chart from them or any other database. Do yo have a Zip program or do you know how to use the Zip compresion program. I won't be able to send all the files unless you do. 1 file is over 12 million bytes it can be compressed to just under a million bytes. There are over 40,000 names in those files and I am not able to access them all. I would like Your gedcom as well. Don't worry about postage most of us just swap info. To me that's the best way to work it so that it evens out. Let me know about the Zip and if you don't know about it I can send a zip program.

Take Care
Stewart

1759 ROWAN COUNTY TAX LIST

This tax list was found between the walls of the old court house by Wm. D. Kizziah, Register of Deeds. When found, it was but scraps of paper, but was fitted together and transcribed by him. This list was made before Rowan Co, NC was divided into other counties and is the oldest tax list ever found in Rowan (to my knowledge). It contains no figures and is not typed here as copied. I have put the "a's" together, the "b's together, etc. When a slave or negro is listed with another's name, I left those names as they appeared on the typed list. Some names in the "b's" were torn off or could not be read. They are listed at the end of this page. There is a copy of this list, as transcribed by Mr. Kizziah, in the Rowan County Library, Salisbury, NC.

ST. JOHN'S LUTHERAN CHURCH
Concord, Cabarrus County, NC
A History

The historic roots of St. John's began when Germans left their homeland for the new British colonies due to war and religious persecution. Initially, the majority arrived through the port of Philadelphia and settled in Pennsylvania. The influx of refugees from the Rhine River Valley quickly dried up available reasonable land in Pennsylvania. Word of unclaimed good tillable soil in Carolina spread quickly and the landless German pioneers, along with many landowners who sold their holdings for a tidy profit, loaded up all their belongings into covered wagons and headed south, by way of the "Great Wagon road and Old Indian Trading Path" into what was at the time Bladen County, North Carolina. The five hundred mile journey was very slow and physically taxing because the livestock had to be herded along ahead of the wagons on the primitive trail. Many of the first Lutheran and German Reformed settlers chose to establish their farmsteads on the bottomlands along the banks of Dutch Buffalo Creek and its tributaries. The area that is present day Cabarrus and Rowan counties had German settlers arriving as early as 1728. It is known that families had settled in what is now the Mt. Pleasant area by 1737.

Religious practices always accompanied German pioneers. Some of the earliest records indicate that the first church services were held in barns and farmyards of the area. But as soon as the settlers had constructed their first crude and primitive homes they looked to provide for another need. This was to provide for instruction of their children in the fundamentals of the Christian faith and to provide for a basic education in reading, writing and arithmetic, along with knowledge of the Bible. These Lutheran and German Reformed families had brought with them from their European homelands their Bibles, Catechisms, and hymnals which their Christian faith had taught to cherish as highly as the kitchen utensils and farming implements necessary for their survival.

Historic evidence indicates that St. John's Lutheran Church was established in the early 1740s, although 1745 is generally accepted as the date of the first organized activity. Around this time the community joined together to build near the creek a dual-purpose church / schoolhouse of "unhewn pine logs without floor, windows or chimney". This description probably means the floor was dirt and that there were no panes in the shuttered opening in the walls to admit light. The first log "Meeting Haus" was given the name of its location: The Dutch Buffalo Creek Meeting Haus. The word "Dutch" is an anglicized word meaning "German" and the creek was in a location that the buffalo still roamed. Although the facility housed a church and school, it could not officially be called a 'church' since the official church of the British colonies was The Anglican Church, thus, the log facility was called a "Meeting Haus" or "House". There is little evidence to indicate the exact location of the original "Meeting House" other than the monument erected in 1894 to commemorate early Christians buried there. The number of souls resting there is unknown as grave markers have decayed and become lost to the ravages of time.

A community leader or the person serving as the schoolteacher probably conducted services held in this first church, as no regular pastor is indicated by histories. There were German Reformed and an occasional Lutheran pastor who would pass through, usually between Pennsylvania and Charleston, and attend to the Christian needs of the settlers. Consistent with the religious practices of the people, some old documents indicate that pastors served the people in the area even prior to 1745. This arrangement lasted for at least twenty-five years with the Lutherans sharing the spiritual ministry

Consistent with the religious practices of the people, some old documents indicate that pastors served the people in the area even prior to 1745. This arrangement lasted for at least twenty-five years with the Lutherans sharing the spiritual ministry provided by their German Reformed pastors and neighbors.

The historic roots of St. John's Lutheran Church began with the establishment of the Dutch Buffalo Creek Church or Dutch Buffalo Meeting House around or before 1745. The early church was known by either name. Colonial Records [VIII, page 748] states, "Already in 1745-1750 all this region was peopled by the flood of immigrants from Pennsylvania, as was that on Dutch Buffalo and Second Creeks." The new "Dutch Buffalo" congregation accommodated these early pioneers. The early church was a union congregation, a co-located German Reformed and German Lutheran Church. In fact, the first pastor to consistently serve the congregation was the Rev. Samuel Suther, a Reformed minister. In the mid to late 1760s he was pastor of a number of union congregations in the area.

When the church was established in 1745 its location in North Carolina was in Bladen County that had been formed from New Hanover County in 1734. Anson County was taken from Bladen County in 1749. Mecklenburg County was formed in 1762 and taken from Anson County. Cabarrus County was formed from Mecklenburg County in 1792 after the American Revolutionary War.

Around 1770 The Dutch Buffalo Meeting House congregation decided to build a new church to better accommodate the growing congregations. They selected a site about one half-mile east of the present St. John's Church. This building was also of log construction, larger and probably more elaborate than the original. This church was also a union church served primarily by German Reformed Ministers. As was customary among the Germans, a burial ground was located adjacent to the church. The number of souls laid to rest here is also unknown as no markers remain.

In 1771 a peaceful separation of the Lutherans and German Reforms occurred. Under the leadership of Captain John Paul Barringer a site was selected in the center of the current St. John's cemetery and a third structure was built, chiefly at the expense of Captain Barringer with David Jarrett as the chief builder. This structure was also of log construction, and as an expression of appreciation a raised and enclosed pew was placed for Captain Barringer and his family. The Lutherans selected the name St. John's for the new church to identify themselves as separate from the old union congregation, but the Dutch Buffalo Creek Church name was so beloved that it was commonly used for many more years. As late as 1810 the name, "Buffalo Creek Church - St. John's", appears in the record book of North Carolina Synod of the Lutheran Church. Eventually, the German Reformed left St. John's rolls to form Bethel Bear Creek Reformed Church located in present day Stanley County.

The congregation was in its third house of worship without having a Lutheran pastor. All efforts to secure a Lutheran minister from Pennsylvania from where most of the settlers had emigrated failed, so efforts were directed to Germany. In 1772 Christopher Layrle from St. John's and Christopher Rintelmann from Organ Church in Rowan County were commissioned to go at their own expense to Germany to seek a minister and schoolteacher. Gov. Tryon of North Carolina wrote a letter of recommendation to the "Society for the Spread of the Gospel in Foreign Parts" at London. With this and a petition requesting a pastor and a schoolteacher signed by sixty families, and other necessary credentials, the commissioners departed on their long journey. They rode their horses to Charleston, SC, where they sold the horses for passage to England where they were most graciously received and well treated. The Missionary Society endorsed their cause, the King of England and many English noblemen gave liberally of their means and St. James' Lutheran Chapel in London gave them a handsome amount of money for that day, in all amounting to more than eight hundred dollars value. Layrle and Randlemann continued on to Hanover, Germany where the Consistory of Hanover readily granted their petition for a pastor and schoolteacher. The Rev. Adolph Nussmann was officially called and commissioned as pastor and Mr. Johann Gottfried Arends as schoolteacher by the consistory.

The Rev. Nussmann and Mr. Arends arrived in North Carolina in 1773 after coming by way of London and Charleston, SC. North Carolina had its first Lutheran pastor to locate permanently within her boundaries. Pastor Nussmann's first sermon was preached on the second Sunday in August 1773 at Organ Church in Rowan County. For the first year Pastor Nussmann gave primary attention to Organ and St. John's Salisbury, while also serving St. John's Mecklenburg (Cabarrus) and other groups as opportunity allowed.

In 1774, Adolph Nussmann moved to Mecklenburg County and became the first regular pastor of St. John's. This relationship would continue for twenty years - the remainder of Nussmann's life. During these years Pastor Nussmann ministered to other Lutherans of the area, frequently riding horseback to communities within a fifty to sixty mile radius. Under his guidance, other Lutheran congregations were founded in the area.

Three years after Pastor Nussmann arrived in North Carolina the Revolutionary War began. The St. John's congregation was loyal to the cause of independence and so suffered many hardships. Members of St. John's fought in the Battle of Moorse's Creek Bridge and other skirmishes in the Carolinas. Many St. John's members were wounded, killed in battle or died in British prisons. While the British armies did not conduct operations in the St. John's community, the Tories plundered, robbed and made life miserable for anyone who supported independence. In order to protect their farms a number of members remained home on Sunday morning during the war. It is said that the throat cancer that ended Pastor Nussmann's life was the result of a torture burn administered by the Tories.

On October 22, 1782 three church council members; Jacob Ferget, Marx Haus, and Jacob Thieme paid fifty shilling for one hundred acres of government land and entered it "in trust for the congregation of Dutch Buffalo Meeting House." This tract included the land where the church and cemetery were already located. This property remains as a valuable St. John's asset and is known as the church farm that presently accommodates the church buildings, parsonage, cemetery, fellowship building and recreation complex.

On November 6, 1784 an effort was begun to build a new and more substantial St. John's Church. The subscription list for the building ranged from ten pounds to three shillings. This frame building, painted red, came to be known as the Red Meeting House. The dedication service led by Pastor Nussmann was held on July 4, 1785. This edifice was much larger than the three former ones and was constructed of the best materials to be had. Captain Barringer's elevated pew was transferred to this building, which was the best house of worship in Mecklenburg County when built. The "Red Meeting House" provided the physical structure for the ever-growing spiritual strengths of the people for some sixty years.

St. John's was the center of Lutheranism for the area. Her pastor not only went out on missionary visits to other counties to establish many new congregations, but also ministered to the people regularly over a fifty-mile radius. Pastor Nussmann had supervision of the entire N.C. Mission of some twenty congregations all of which were faithfully and regularly supplied with the word and sacraments by Pastor Nussmann. Pastor Nussmann is buried in St. John's church cemetery. The list of St. John's pastors who followed Rev. Nussmann is over thirty in number, but all have labored in the same love and spirit of the Lord.

In 1806 St. John's was said to be the strongest Lutheran congregation in the state. She was received into the North Carolina Lutheran Synod October 20, 1806 at Organ Church. When the Sixteenth Convention of the NC Synod met on April 25, 1819 it was the first time for St. John's to host the synodical convention.

In 1844 plans were made to build the present sanctuary. Built of bricks made on the church land, with dimensions of eighty by fifty-five feet, this structure was described as the largest and most commodious house of worship in western North Carolina. The dedication services were held August 22, 1846. In addition to the liberal support of the members, the contributions made in London in 1772 had now accumulated to fifteen hundred dollars and used to help finance the construction. The structure has undergone several renovations and additions since 1846. In 1888 the gallery was removed from the east end, the pulpit was moved from the west end to the east, the side entrance doors were closed, and a new front entry door was opened in the west end. In 1936 the three-story addition for classroom space was added to the eastern end of the building. The church nave was remodeled in 1948 with the center support columns being removed and new furnishings installed. Further major expansions were added in 1965 including the Educational Building on the South side and the enlargement of the nave and vestibule. A fellowship building was constructed in 1976.

St. John's has had many "firsts" in her history. The first school on record of what is now Cabarrus County soil was operated at St. John's. The congregation's original constitution provided for a Christian school and schoolmaster. On May 20, 1794 St. John's hosted the first Lutheran ecclesiastical assembly, bringing together all the Lutheran ministers in the state for the purpose of ordaining the first English speaking Lutheran minister on NC soil, the Rev. R.J. Miller. This meeting was held nine years prior to the first Lutheran convention in North Carolina that organized the synod. Pastor Miller was also considered an Episcopal minister and established a congregation in Lenoir, NC, for that denomination. In 1834 the Rev. Daniel Scherer, who had been pastor for ten years, moved with many other Lutherans in the area to Hillsboro, Illinois, to form as a mission the first Lutheran congregation in that state, appropriately named St. John's, and another congregation, named Zion Lutheran. The Rev. D.J. Koontz, the first black Lutheran minister in NC was ordained at St. John's in 1880. The 86th North Carolina Synod Convention was held at St. John's on May 3, 1889 at which time the "Alpha Colored Lutheran Synod of N.C." was established. Many Lutheran congregations in North Carolina, and some in the mid-West, trace their origins to the missionary work of St. John's and her ministers. Through the 1700s and 1800s St. John's remained a strong leader and influence in the North Carolina Synod.

Many members sacrificed their lives and possessions in military conflicts for this great nation. A number of Revolutionary War patriots are buried in St. John's cemetery. At least 89 men from St. John's gave their lives during the Civil War. Unfortunately, the vast majority of the Civil War dead are buried near the battlefield or prison camp where they fell, which was the common practice of the time. Members of St. John's who lost their lives during the Civil War are buried throughout the region of battle from Gettysburg to Charleston, Richmond to Point Lookout, Maryland, Wilmington to Petersburg. Veterans of many other U.S. conflicts are laid to rest in the graveyard. Also, a number of church leaders, bishops and pastors are buried in the cemetery as well.

The 250th Anniversary of St. John's was celebrated throughout 1995 by a series of special services and living history events that recalled her Christian heritage and demonstrated the labor-intensive lifestyle of the early German founders. During the more than 255 years the congregation has steadily grown to a membership of approximately six hundred souls who cherish their heritage and seek to fulfill God's will as the as a church actively moving in this century for the praise of His name and the enlarging of His Kingdom.

During St. John's long history, at least eighteen from the congregation have entered the ordained ministry. The St. John's membership has helped support schools, foreign and domestic missionaries of the Gospel, mission congregations, and countless other causes that the gospel has called her people to serve. Every year the congregation serves many people from throughout the U.S.A. who return to the hallowed ground of St. John's to reconnect with their family roots. Thousands have passed through her doors and have been lifted in spirit.

DANIEL JARRETT

submitted by Elizabeth Jarrett Walton

Daniel Jarrett was born in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania on December 18, 1747. His wife, Mary Catherine Moyer(s), was also born there on February 9, 1753. They were married in the same county on October 25, 1772.

From Pennsylvania, the couple moved to that area of Mecklenburg County, North Carolina now known as Cabarrus. They made their home among the German settlers and Daniel Jarrett's name is found in the early histories and courthouse records of Mecklenburg and Cabarrus Counties along with Martin and John Fifer (Phiffer), John Paul Barringer and others.

Mary Catherine and Daniel became the parents of ten children. It is believed that all of them were born in North Carolina. They were: John b. May 9, 1773; Mary b. June 23, 1775; Daniel, Jr. b. March 20, 1777; Moses b. January 17, 1779; Rachel b. January 5, 1782; Joanna b. September 2, 1784; Catherine b. November 23, 1786 d. September 3, 1795; Aaron b. October 4, 1788; Noah b. May 28, 1791; and Leah b. August 8, 1795.

Evidently Daniel and his family were members of the Lutheran congregation of Dutch Buffalo Creek Church. (Moses Jarrett, believed to be Daniel's Moses, was confirmed in Buffalo Creek Church in 1796 by Pastor Carl August Gattlieb Storch; Rachel Jarrett was confirmed the same year.) This Church housed both the Dutch Reformed and the Lutheran congregations. John Paul Barringer, a devout Lutheran, decided that his congregation would have a church of its own. With Captain Barringer acting as the building committee, Daniel Jarrett undertook the construction of a new church. It was known henceforth as St. John's Lutheran Church.

On February 12, 1776, Daniel was one of several who accompanied Major John Fifer on an expedition against the insurgents to Cross Creek. Daniel served as a clerk for twenty-eight days and was paid five pounds and twelve shillings.

Daniel Jarrett was born in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania on December 18, 1742. His wife, Mary Catherine Moyer(s), was also born there on February 9, 1753. They were married in the same county on October 25, 1772.

May 26, 1791; and Leah b. August 3, 1795.

Evidently Daniel and his family were members of the Lutheran congregation of Dutch Buffalo Creek Church. (Moses Jarrett, believed to be Daniel's Moses, was confirmed in Buffalo Creek Church in 1795 by Pastor Carl August Gottlieb Storch; Rachel Jarrett was confirmed the same year.) This Church housed both the Dutch Reformed and the Lutheran congregations. John Paul Barringer, a devout Lutheran, decided that his congregation would have a church of its own. With Captain Barringer acting as the building committee, Daniel Jarrett undertook the construction of a new church. It was known henceforth as St. John's Lutheran Church.

On February 12, 1776, Daniel was one of several who accompanied Major John Fifer on an expedition against the insurgents to Cross Creek. Daniel served as a clerk for twenty-eight days and was paid five pounds and twelve shillings.

As early as 1778 and several years following, Daniel was appointed as Tax collector in Mecklenburg County.

He was instrumental in the formation and organization of the government of Cabarrus County. When the North Carolina Legislature voted to cut Cabarrus out of Mecklenburg in 1792, it appointed a group of commissioners to select the site for the county seat. Daniel was a member of this commission.

When the first court was held in the home of Robert Russell on the third Monday of January 1793 - a few days after Cabarrus County's government became formally organized - Daniel was a member of the jury.

He was also, one of a committee of five authorized to buy fifty acres of land in the name of the county and contract for the erection of the necessary buildings. However, a disagreement arose between the settlers of German origin and those of Scotch-Irish as to where the location of the county seat should be. When the final decision was made, three years later the list of commissioners did not include Daniel's name. It may be that he had moved by that time.

After leaving Cabarrus sometime prior to 1799, Daniel and his family lived for a brief time in that part of Burke that is now McDowell County; then they settled in Buncombe. From October 17, 1799 to December 18, 1812, Daniel received sixteen land grants. The acreage totaled 1719 acres. All but three of these grants were described as being located on the west side of the French Broad River.

Around 1800, Daniel asked the North Carolina Legislature for some compensation for the continental money paid from 1778 to 1782 for his service as tax collector during the Revolutionary period. He stated that he "was appointed to assess and collect in the County of Mecklenburg." He was paid $1,500 which he thought was worth $550 in "good money." The North Carolina Assembly rejected his petition stating that there were others with similar requests and that the Assembly could not come up with a fair way to compensate everyone.

Daniel Jarrett died on February 11, 1822. It is not known where he is buried. It is speculated that his grave may be on property belonging to the Biltmore Estates or on the property which the Estates donated to Pisgah National Forest as he was a former owner of some of this land. Correspondence with the curator of the Biltmore Estates revealed no record of a grave marker.

NOAH JARRETT

submitted by Elizabeth Jarrett Walton

Noah Jarrett was born May 28, 1791. He was the son of Daniel and Mary Catherine Moyer Jarrett. It seems logical to assume that Noah was born in that part of Mecklenburg County, North Carolina which later became Cabarrus since it is known that his father was there in 1791.

Noah moved with his family to Buncombe County around 1797. He remained there until he died.

He married Elizabeth Israel circa 1818. She was the daughter of Jesse and Mary Jones Israel. Elizabeth was born November 25, 1796 in Buncombe County.

It is reported that Elizabeth Israel and his brothers and sisters were reared by a slave named Hannah because their father died in 1806 and their mother remarried. The step-father did not want the Israel children.

Very little is known about Noah Jarrett. He reported to the census authorities that he was a farmer. It is recorded in the Buncombe County Deeds that Daniel Jarrett deeded Noah 409 acres in 1821. Noah and Elizabeth Israel Jarrett had six known children. They were:

1. Jesse Israel b. April 9, 1820; m. Charlotte T. Howell March 10, 1851, d. November 21, 1904; buried in Jarrett Cemetery, Ellijay, Georgia.
2. James Montraville b. November 21, 1823; m. Lucinda Owenbey September 17, 1850; d. May 23, 1909; burial

The MYERS Family

A complete outline is available via e-mail.

1. Elias MOYER (b.1690 Germany) married Anna Catharina [mnu] (b.Germany). Children: Susanna (b.Germany), Johann Michael (b.Germany), Maria Catharine (b. Germany), John Adam (see below).

Elias MOYER immigrated to the US from Prussia (now Germany). He arrived in Philadelphia, Pa on 11Aug1732. He, his wife, and children were among the passengers aboard the ship "Samuel".

the Catawba River into the western part of the county. There had been no flood of the Germans to Iredell as there had to southern Rowan and Cabarrus or across the Catawba River, but there had been a gradual seepage of them into the section between the two major Scotch-Irish settlements in the south. It was there the Lutheran Church grew up.

The first Lutheran congregation was organized in Cambridge Associate Presbyterian Church in 1815 and it took the name of the nearby Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church, New Perth. It was organized by an English Lutheran pastor, Robert S. Miller, who had been trained for the Church of England and had come to America and become involved in the Revolutionary War. Francis Asbury had found him and sent him to the Yadkin Circuit with orders to organize the Methodists moving onto the Catawba River from Virginia. Instead he had married and settled near the present Terrell in Catawba County. There the German Reformed settlers persuaded the Lutherans to ordain him so that a minister would be available to administer the sacraments.

Miller was with Paul Henkel at the Shepherds camp meeting, and was associated with Henkel in attempts to organize the Lutherans into a North Carolina Synod after the meetings. Henkel, opposed to the emotional excesses of the revival, was later to admit that at least it had had the salutary effect on the Lutheran Church of forcing it to organize to provide themselves with a ministry.

By the 1820s Miller was involved in a reproachment with the Protestant Episcopal Church and in his late years he became a priest in that denomination and made an attempt to merge the Lutheran and Episcopal churches in south Iredell. In 1823 such a merger was tried, and St. Michael's was built about a mile north of Cambridge. The Episcopal elements were primarily from the Mills family, who had moved down from Maryland soon after the Revolution and settled on Withrow's Creek. Gradually they withdrew from St. Michael's, first to a family chapel located at the Mills homestead and then to St. James Episcopal Church, which was built in 1856.

The Lutheran elements held on at St. Michael's. Its old site is well marked today by a cemetery on the highway just south of Troutman. After the development of Troutman on the railway it was moved into the town, where it remained St. Michael's until the 1920s when it was merged with St. Martin's to become Holy Trinity.

About the time of the establishment of St. Michael's, a split occurred in the Lutheran churches in North Carolina. Members of Paul Henkel's family became dissatisfied with the work of some of the non-Lutheran pastors in the North Carolina Synod who were supplying the churches, and as a result they withdrew and organized the Tennessee Synod, a division which they proclaimed as more doctrinal than geographical. However, most of the churches to the east of Iredell adhered to the North Carolina Synod, while those in Catawba County and to the west adhered to the Tennessee Synod. In Iredell the division was right down the middle.

St. Michael's adhered to the North Carolina Synod, as did St. Paul's, organized just east of Statesville in 1840 by Benjamin Arey. In 1833 a Tennessee Synod Church, St. Martin's, was established on the Old Mountain Road near the present South Iredell High School. Later Sharon, on the ridge between Buffalo Shoals Creek and the Catawba River, was organized as a Tennessee Synod church.

SCHOOLS

Iredell County's public school system began in 1839. In the August elections the county voted to participate in the recently enacted Public School Act, providing for matching funds from the Literary Fund to those counties which would vote "schools" and provide the buildings for running the schools. The Literary Fund had been established by the state legislature in 1825, to be used when it became large enough to be effective. Certain funds, such as escheated estates and the sale of public lands were allotted to it. In 1837 the federal government divided its excess revenue among the states and North Carolina put most of its share, $1.5 million into the Literary Fund, raising it to more than $2 million.

The Public School Act was passed early in 1839, providing that the interest on the Literary Fund should be used for public schools and promising $40 a year to each community that would furnish a building and raise an extra $20 to run the school. Iredell voted immediately to participate, as did 60 of the other 67 counties then in existence. By county court time in August 1839, 10 school commissioners had been appointed as a kind of board of education to lay

EARLY HISTORY OF ST. MICHAEL'S EV. LTH. CHURCH

My father [?], Andrew Barringer, was for many years an Elder in St. Michael's Church, also a trustee of the land on which the church stood. Thieves had entered the church at various times and he believed the early records had been stolen.

After his death, a secretary and bookcase belonging to him was given to my mother, Lucinda, as a part of her dower. After her death the heirs of her estate, while examining the contents of this secretary, found a manuscript in which was written, as I recollect, "The First Communion, this Fourth Sunday in August, 1815." Then, just beneath this, "August 27, 1815." Then following was a list of names beginning with Charles N. Mills and wife, Elizabeth. This list contained twenty names, the last being, "Peter, a black man." The date of "The Second Communion," was given, but the names of the Communicants was blank. The date of the "Third Communion" was given followed by a list of perhaps thirty-five or forty names. These were followed by the lists of the "Fourth," "Fifth," "Sixth," and later Communions, the dates usually being at or near Easter or Christmas.

The fifth or sixth Communion was followed by the words, "at St. Michael's." The deed was given by Michael Walcher in September, 1823 to the trustees, Charles Mills, Martin Harkey, William Lippard, Jacob Troutman, and John Harkey, has in it the words, "on which the church now stands." From these records, and their circumstances, it is evident that this "First Communion"

The pastor's name was not given, but from other sources, we learn that it was Robert Johnson Miller.

EARLY HISTORY OF ST. MICHAEL'S EV. LTH. CHURCH

My father [?], Andrew Barringer, was for many years an Elder in St. Michael's Church, also a trustee of the land on which the church stood. Thieves had entered the church at various times and he believed the early records had been stolen.

After his death, a secretary and bookcase belonging to him was given to my mother, Lucinda, as a part of her dower. After her death the heirs of her estate, while examining the contents of this secretary, found a manuscript in which was written, as I recollect, "The First Communion, this Fourth Sunday in August, 1815." Then, just beneath this, "August 27, 1815." Then following was a list of names beginning with Charles N. Mills and wife, Elizabeth. This list contained twenty names, the last being, "Peter, a black man." The date of "The Second Communion," was given, but the names of the Communicants was blank. The date of the "Third Communion" was given followed by a list of perhaps thirty-five or forty names. These were followed by the lists of the "Fourth," "Fifth," "Sixth," and later Communions, the dates usually being at or near Easter or Christmas.

The fifth or sixth Communion was followed by the words, "at St. Michael's." The deed was given by Michael Walcher in September, 1823 to the trustees, Charles Mills, Martin Harkey, William Lippard, Jacob Troutman, and John Harkey, has in it the words, "on which the church now stands." From these records, and their circumstances, it is evident that this "First Communion" was the first communion of St. Michael's congregation, just 99 years, ten months ago. The pastor's name was not given, but from other sources, we learn that it was Robert Johnson Miller.

This manuscript was in the residence of P.A. Barringer, when it was burned on March 10, 1907, Statesville, NC.

NORTH CAROLINA BASTARDY BONDS by Betty J. and Edwin A. Camin
Bartlesville Public Library Book

The Bastardy Bonds of North Carolina are bonds posted because of the birth or impending birth of a bastard child. These bonds were intended to protect the county or parish from the expense of raising the child. When the pregnancy of a woman or birth of a child was brought to the attention of the court, a warrant was issued and the woman brought into court. She was examined (questioned) under oath and asked to declare the name of the child's father. The reputed father was then served a warrant and required to post bond. If the woman refused the name of the father; she, her father or some other interested party would post the bond. In some cases, it was found that the mother and reputed father together posed the bond. If the woman refused to post bond or declare the father, she was often sent to jail.

This collection was started several years ago when the author was a resident of Raleigh where the extant bonds are located. These records came from either the actual bonds or record books. For a more complete listing of the Bastard Bonds of a particular county, it is suggested you read the county court minutes. Those bonds that have survived are only a very small percentage of the number recorded in the County Court and County Superior Court. The time period covered by this book is from the formation of a county to about 1878.

Counties in this book are only those where Bastardy Bonds have been microfilmed. The counties are: Alexander, Bertie, Buncombe, Burke, Cabarrus, Caldwell, Carteret, Caswell, Catawba, Chatham, Cleveland, Cumberland, Grandville, New Hanover, Rowan and Wake.

Coldwater Church
Is this Mt Giliad?

(written in early 1930's)
The first positive date of the existence of a church called Coldwater is taken from the Shinn Family book, in which it is recorded the marriage of Silas Shinn and Eleanor Overcash, who were married in the old Coldwater Church in 1766, by the Reverend Samuel Suther (see his biography). It is believed that he was the first regular pastor of this church but there was probably a congregation there much earlier as it is known that some of the members of this congregation came to this section as early as 1753.

There is still in existence an old graveyard with a few legibly marked graves belonging to this church. Some of the names familiar in the history of the early church and still in existence, although their names have gone through some changes in spelling, are Pfeiffer, Misenheimer, Klein, Walter, Walcher, Mitchler, Barnhardt, Slough, Berberich, Peck, Penninger, Schmidt, Iyerly, Sell, Seener, Neishler, Gober, Shinn, Krimminger, File, and Foil, these to names belong to unrelated families.

Probably among the officers of the church were Martin Phifer, Nicolas Nishler, Jacob Misenheimer, Christian Barnhardt, Christian Abenshine, Philip or Christian Berberich, Adam or Frederick Peck, and Michael Klein for they were all men of intelligence and well-educated.

After the Rev Suther left this church for another field there was a period in which they were unable to procure a pastor, because of the unsettled state of this country and the connection with the old country being broken, for it is about this that we find them going into the churches of other denominations or of the same denomination in other sections, such as Grace Bethel Reformed or Bear Creek, the Presbyterian Church, Coldwater Lutheran and probably others that were nearer their homes.

In the record of St John's Lutheran Church during the period we find that the pastor of this church was called upon to bury their dead, baptise their infants, and to marry the members of Coldwater. We can find nothing to lead us to believe that there was ever any connection with St John's and Coldwater Reformed Church or any Lutheran Walcher (Walker)...

Then in the Chapter "The Way The Old Folks Talked" on page 111, VIII. German Inscriptions in Rowan and Cabarrus (This is examples of the German inscriptions with the English translations)
"The dialect was never a written language. Inscriptions and epitaphs are in High German (the language of the Church), but some of the later ones betray dialectal influences in their spelling." (The author then lists 12 German items some inscriptions on the church doors, a dedicatory poem, and some epitaphs with the English translations for each.). The epitaphs are for Mattias Barringer, Michael Trexler, Elizabeth Siefert/Sifford, Michael Fesperman, ADAM WALCHER, MARGRETA WALCHERN, Michael Braun and Adolph Nussman.

9. AdamWalcher's English Translation:
"Under this stone rest the remains of Adam Walker. He was born in 1722, on the 16 th day of May. Passed away October (?) 18 (?). In the German Walker is shown as Walcher.

10. Here repose the remains of Margaret Walker. Born August (?), 1771. Fell asleep May 27, 1800. The souls of the righteous are in God's Hand and no affliction shall touch them." In German, her name is listed as Margreta Walchern. (The n or en on the end of the name designates a female, I am told.)
This is Henry Walcher, s/o Adam, wife Margaret Sifford/Siefert buried in St. John's Lutheran Cemetery, Concord, Cabarrus County, NC. Conflict: St. John's Cemetery gravestone translation states death date as 27 Aug 1800.

ST. JOHN'S

St. John's Lutheran Church was founded in September 1842 in Irving Township by John Godfrey Lipe of St. John's neighborhood called the Lipe Settlement. John & Rachel (Blackwelder) Lipe donated land from their acreage for the church. Rev. Daniel Trumper was the first minister and it was under his labor that the church was organized. Some of the original members of the church were: Henry Carriker, Mary Carriker, John Lipe, Rachel Lipe, Nancy Lipe, Tillman Hefley, and Mrs. Hefley. The first church was built in frontier style, a rough building of hand worked lumber with hand hewn puncheon seats.

Two years later, in 1884, John and Rachel donated additional land from their acreage which adjoined that on which the church was built, for a cemetery. The first burial was that of their son-in-law, Joshua Moses Sechler, who died September 5, 1844 and was the husband of Helen Lipe.

Although church services are no longer held at that location, the cemetery is well maintained but over the years some of the stones have been vandalized.

St. John's Cemetery is located next to CH # 18 between roads 1400E and 1525E in section 4.

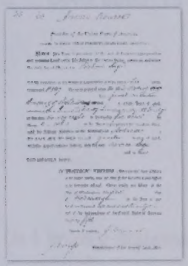
The Official Federal Land Records Site

Welcome to the Bureau of Land Management (BLM), General Land Office (GLO) Records Automation web site. We provide live access to Federal land conveyance records for the Public Land States. We also provide image access to more than two million Federal land title records for Eastern Public Land States, issued between 1820 and 1908. Images of Serial patents (land titles issued between 1908 and the mid-1960's) have been added to this web site. Images related to survey plats, dating back to 1810, are added to the site state-by-state as each state's documents are completed. Due to organization of documents in the GLO collection, this site does not currently contain every Federal title record issued for the Public Land States.

Federal Land Patents



Land patent

This site offers researchers a source of information on the initial transfer of land titles from the Federal government to individuals. In addition to verifying title transfer, this information will allow the researcher to associate an individual (Patentee, Assignee, Warrantee, Widow, or Heir) with a specific location (Legal Land Description) and time (Issue Date). For the beginner genealogist, additional resources can be found by clicking here.

Survey plat

New! Survey plats

Survey plats are a recent addition to this site. Survey plats were the official survey documentation used when land title was transferred (via a Land Patent) from the Federal government to individuals. The drawings were created to represent survey lines, boundaries, descriptions, parcels and subdivisions. They are critical historic documents that can be used to help researchers locate the land referenced in a land patent's legal land description (i.e. Meridian, Township, Range, and Section/Block).

Illinois Public Domain Land Tract Sales

- Search the Illinois Public Domain Land Tract Sales Database now.
- How to obtain copies of original Illinois land records.
- How to obtain additional information on land sales.
- How to determine the location of public domain lands.

Land sales from the public domain were recorded by field employees of the U.S. General Land Office, state and local officials, and clerks of the Illinois Central Railroad. These records were transferred to the Illinois State Archives for permanent retention in 1957. Because the records are arranged by legal description, a database was developed to allow the records to be searched by name. The University of Illinois at Chicago has made this database available for online searches.

The database contains information about 538,750 land sales from the 54,740 square miles of the public domain sold within Illinois. Each purchase entry includes the purchaser's name, purchase date, number of acres, price per acre, numeric code indicating the county in which the land is located, legal description (township, section, range), volume and page numbers of original entry, and variously, the sale type, and the purchaser's sex and residence.

Illinois Photocopies

To receive copies of a record from the Field General Land Office registers, your request must provide the complete information found in the database entry. The charge for photocopies of original land records is $2.00 per page. As a result of limitations on research time, Archives staff can photocopy no more than 2 entries per request. Researchers should know, however, that the registers contain no additional information with two exceptions.

1. If the code number for the residence of a purchaser is not found on the list of county codes, the register provides the names of state and, occasionally, city or township.

2. If the price is listed as "0.0" and the sale type is "FD", the purchaser used a military bounty land warrant. For the 1817-1819 warrants, the registers also include warrant number and military corps or regiment in which the veteran served. For the 1847-1877 warrants, the register provides warrant certificate number and date, and the name of the original recipient of the warrant, possibly someone other than the purchaser.

The Archives no longer bills for photocopies. Prepaid $5.00 vouchers, each containing ten $.50 credits, must be purchased and accompany any research request for a land sale record. If you are interested in by using the legal description given in the database entry. The map is provided in a PDF (Portable Document Format) file, which can be viewed or printed using your Web browser and Adobe Acrobat Reader software. Macintosh and Windows versions of Acrobat Reader may be downloaded free of charge from Adobe.

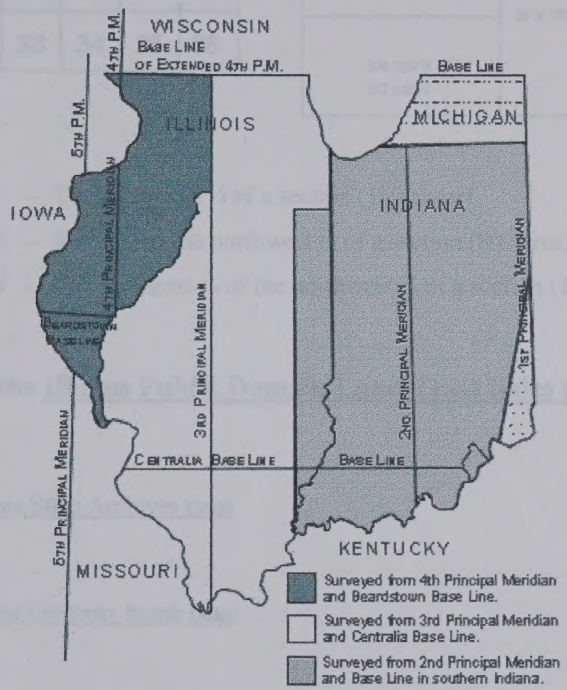
Download the Illinois Public Domain Land Tract Sales map (requires Adobe Acrobat Reader).

The rectangular coordinate system of surveys divides Illinois into 36-square mile townships that are located in ranges west of the 2nd Principal Meridian or east or west of the 3rd or the 4th Principal Meridian. Townships are further located as north or south of base lines that serve as reference points for each meridian.



Refer to the legal description from the database entry to find the meridian for the land purchase. Then use the numbers along the appropriate meridian and base line to count north or south of the base line and east or west of the principal meridian to locate the township in which the land is situated. For example, if the legal description is Township 28N, Range 6E 3rd P.M., begin at the intersection of the 3rd Principal Meridian and the Centralia Base Line and count 28 townships north and 6 ranges east to find a township in the middle of Livingston County.

This township will be divided into 36 sections of 640 acres. Each section is further subdivided into

Abstracts of Land Patents

Volume Two

by Margaret M. Hofmann

This explains Ms Hoffmans recording of the records

Bartlesville Public Library

FOREWORD

Publication of this volume completes Margaret Hofmann's abstracts of grants of patents for land in North Carolina throughout the colonial period, from 1663 through 1775, whether issued by the governor and council under authority of the Lords Proprietors of Carolina (1663-1729) or under authority of King George I, King George II, or King George III (1729-1775). There remains only one other group of records conveying original title to land in colonial North Carolina, and abstracts of those are in preparations by Ms. Hofmann. That group is the body of indented deeds issued out of the proprietary land office of John Carteret, Earl Granville, from 1748 until his death in 1763; they are commonly called "Granville Grants."

In the foreword to the volume of these abstracts for the years 1735 through 1764, the user's attention was called to the fact that after 1744 Crown patents were not issued for land that lay within the Granville Proprietary. At the risk of appearing repetitious or pedantic, one feels obliged to emphasize once more the fact that in this present volume the researcher will not find record of instruments of original title to land in the Granville Proprietary. This district comprised the northern half of North Carolina and included all land lying between the Virginia boundary and the southern boundary of the present counties of Dare, Tyrrell, Washington, Randolph, Davidson, Rowan, and Iredell. Theoretically, the eastern and western boundaries of Lord Granville's tract were formed by the two oceans. For all practical purposes, had that title to be made good, the earl probably could have established his western boundary only at the Mississippi River. The researcher will not, then, find in this volume any titles to land in Northampton County, for example, or Wilkes, or Yadkin, or Davie, or Burke, or any other present day county that lay within the old boundaries of the Granville Proprietary.

This does not mean, let me hasten to say, that researchers will not find names of patentees who lived within the Granville Proprietary but obtained grants within the Crown district in the southern half of North Carolina. One did not have to reside in either half of the province in order to own land there. Some individuals owned enormous landholdings in both districts. A greater number lived first in one district, then in the other, and owned land in both Lord Granville's district and in the Crown's district. Easily available, relatively inexpensive, vacant land is a powerful motivator; it is frequently the underlying force in the movement of population. Conversely, a well-stocked geographical territory is a continuing desideratum of governments and proprietaries. Both the Crown and Earl Granville desired a well-populated district.

The opening of Lord Granville's land office in 1748 obliged the governor of North Carolina to introduce changes in the operation of the Crown land office, since both districts were in competition for the same market. We, therefore, see influences and alterations in the methods of operation of the Crown land office that it may be useful to speak of specifically.

From the earliest days of the Lords Proprietors it was usually possible to secure land only by immigrating or by importing immigrants (called "headrights"). So much land was granted per headright — usually 100 acres per adult male, and varying amounts of females, children, and slaves. Land was seldom sold by the Lords Proprietors for mere cash. The Crown officers continued the headright system of granting land upon importation of settlers and payment of surveyor's and office fees. The headright system was dealt a severe blow from which it never recovered when the Granville land office opened. Lord Granville's agents sold land outright to any purchaser with ready money and did not concern themselves with headrights. The system of granting land in the Crown's district as a reward for immigrating or for importing immigrants appears to have been allowed to lapse just prior to or with the death of Governor Gabriel Johnston (1752). The royal instructions to Governor Arthur Dobbs, dated 17 June 1754, stipulated merely that land be granted to persons who were "in a condition to cultivate and improve the same by settling thereon in proportion to the quantity of acres a sufficient number of white persons or negroes." Surveyors' fees and office fees were still charged by the Crown to the settlers, and an annual quitrent (a form of tax) was reserved to the Crown, of course.

The grants of patent abstracted in this present volume, then, do not represent "headright" grants, and researchers should be careful not to speculate on the size of families by applying to these grants an old headright formula of so many acres per person imported. Great caution must be used, as well, in attempting to deduce inferences about economic well-being of the patentee by the size of his grant. While it is true that the criterion for grants was altered from headrights to "a condition to cultivate and improve" the land that the settler wanted, there is another factor at work in determining the size of the tract granted. In the eastern end of the province, there was naturally less desirable vacant land in the second half of the eighteenth century than there was in the more recently and more sparsely populated western end of the province, where there was an expanding frontier. One should expect to find, and will find, therefore, a great number of grants for small tracts in the eastern counties that have no bearing on the patentee's economic condition.

In addition to abandoning the headright system, Crown officers made improvements in their land office. In the earliest years all applications for vacant land were made directly to the Provincial Secretary who brought the fact of the "entries" to meetings of the governor and council sitting as a Court of Claims. Initially the Crown continued this method of making an "entry" for lands after it had purchased the soil of North Carolina from the Lords Proprietors of Carolina. When Earl Granville's land office opened in 1748, however, his agents rode the court circuit and made themselves readily available throughout the northern half of the province to any who wished to make an "entry" directly with them. The Crown land office did not immediately adopt this convenience of making the entry takers more readily accessible to enterers, but within five years of the closing of the Granville land office (1763), additional entry takers were commissioned to assist the Provincial Secretary by taking the initial entry and forwarding it to him. The Provincial Secretary then presented the entry at the Court of Claims. (The ordinary steps of issuing a warrant to the surveyor authorizing him to lay off the land, his return to the Provincial Secretary of a plat map of the tract of land, and the issuance of a patent out of the Provincial Secretary's office under the signature of the Governor and the great seal of North Carolina all remained in force and were not altered.)

Probably the major factors influencing the addition of more entry takers in the Crown land office were the growth of the population in the southern half of the province, the expansion of the western frontier by Cherokee Indian land cessions in 1768, and the increase in the Crown's land office business due to the unavailability of grants through Lord Granville's land office after his death in 1763. By 1768, the year of the Cherokee cessions which led to the formation of Tryon County and the opening of the Catawba, Pacolet, and Tyger river lands, the Crown's land office divided the southern half of the province into three geographical districts (Western, Northern, and Southern) and appointed sub-entry takers. The Western district initially included Mecklenburg and Tryon counties, and Martin Phifer was the entry taker; by 1773 John Kirconnel was made entry taker for Tryon County, where there was a booming land office business. The Northern district included Craven, Dobbs, Carteret, Hyde, and Beaufort counties and that portion of Johnston County that lay below the Granville line; Christopher Neale was entry taker in 1768, and by 1773 he had been succeeded by Peter Johnson (at which time Onslow County was added to the district). The Southern district remained the responsibility of the Provincial Secretary and included the counties of Duplin, New Hanover, Brunswick, Bladen, Cumberland, and Anson; initially Onslow County fell into this district. By 1773 the land office business in Anson had become so brisk that James Cotten was commissioned entry taker for that county. This final appointment put individual entry takers in the three western counties of Anson, Mecklenburg, and Tryon, and in those appointments lies a useful hint concerning the growing density of the frontier population on the eve of the American Revolution. The greater part of this growth can probably be dated from the Cherokee Indian cession of 1768, under which the Indians surrendered title to land lying west of the Catawba River and east of the foothills of the Appalachian Mountains. (It was in this area that Tryon County was formed.)

The southern line of Tryon County was meant to be the North Carolina-South Carolina boundary. This, however, had never been surveyed. When it was surveyed in 1772, North Carolina agreed to a line that placed the southern strip of Tryon County and much of the Pacolet and Tyger river lands in South Carolina. Consequently, a large number of patents abstracted in this volume represent the instrument from which devolve a very large number of present-day South Carolina land titles.

It is not known to what extent the closing of the Crown's land office motivated North Carolinians to join in the rebellion that was the American Revolution, but it certainly must have been one of the moving forces. By order of the King in Council dated 7 April 1773, Governor Josiah Martin was ordered to close the land office. Accordingly, the land office closed in North Carolina on 28 June 1773, when the order was received and read to the council of state. Although the Court of Claims continued to sit, and although patents based on old entries, warrants, and surveys continued to ripen and were issued as late as 25 July 1774, applications for new entries and warrants were denied. Rumor spread through the province that it was the Crown's intention to secure an Act of Parliament that would vacate all American titles to land by annulling former patents, thereby causing all titles to land to revert to the Crown. Governor Martin issued a proclamation to suppress this rumor. He even went so far as to hold another Court of Claims in February 1775 in which 74 petitions for patents were accepted. It was too late. The Crown land office had closed forever. When the land office reopened in 1778, it opened as the State land office under authority of a sovereign people who had assumed title in themselves to all vacant lands within their charted boundaries.

The question occasionally arises as to whether or not North Carolina emulated South Carolina after the American Revolution by requiring citizens to present memorials setting forth their land titles. North Carolina did not do this. It accepted the fact that natural title to vacant land vested originally in the chartered proprietor or sovereign power, whether the Lords Proprietors of Carolina or the kings of Great Britain. It merely held that in 1775 title to all vacant lands within its boundaries had demised on the new state upon the cessation of the king's sovereignty within those boundaries. North Carolina allowed no question to shake earlier titles; she held her citizens secure in their lands.

In the preparation of this volume, as in her volumes of abstracts for the years from 1663 through 1729 and from 1735 through 1764, the compiler has consulted (and where necessary, conflated) the patent books in the office of the Secretary of State in Raleigh, the Auditor General's record of patents in the British Public Record Office in London, the Provincial Auditor's records of patents in the North Carolina State Archives and the Secretary of State's office in Raleigh, and the records of the colonial Court of Claims in the North Carolina State Archives. (The minutes of the closing years of the Court of Claims, from 1772 through 1775, are not with their fellows in the Archives but are in the Southern Historical Collection at the University of North Carolina Library in Chapel Hill, where they have been assigned the collection number of 2145.)

Researchers who wish to obtain copies of the original abstracts of patents or copies of the warrants and plats for them should address their inquiries to the Land Grant Office, New Legislative Office Building — Room 302, 300 North Salisbury Street, Raleigh, North Carolina 27611.

Perhaps writers of forewords should not praise the books they intend to introduce. But to say that this volume is another milestone in opening to researchers the single most important group of records in North Carolina is no more than to acknowledge what is a self-evident truth. And to say that Margaret Hofmann has placed the world of researchers irretrievably in her debt is mere understatement.

PROVIDENCE OF NORTH CAROLINA 1663-1729 ABSTRACTS OF LAND PATENTS

FOREWORD

Upon publication of this volume and its forthcoming companion, Margaret Hofmann will very nearly have achieved her goal of publishing in abstract form all of the colonial grants of patents for land in North Carolina. Her first volume, Province of North Carolina, 1663-1729: Abstracts of Land Patents, was published in 1979, and included all land patents on record that were granted by the governor and council under authority of the Lords Proprietors of Carolina. This present volume and its forthcoming companion include abstracts of all land patents granted by the governor and council under authority of the British Crown from the opening of the land office in 1735 until its closure in 1775. Finally, her projected volume of "Grandville Land Grants" will complete her colonial land series by publishing in abstract form all recoverable indented deeds for land in the northern half of the colony of North Carolina that were issued out of Lord Granville's land office between its opening in 1748 and its closure in 1763. Users of the present volume should be aware of the fact that in 1744 the northern half of North Carolina was granted to John Carteret, Baron Carteret (subsequently successor to the title of Earl Granville). After the year of that grant, 1744, no further patents for land were granted in the northern half of the colony under authority of the Crown. Lord Granville's southern boundary was roughly along the southern boundary of the present counties of Dare, Tyrrell, Washington, Randolph, Davidson, Rowan, and Iredell.

Since North Carolina was discovered and colonized by the British, the title to the soil was vested in the Crown of Great Britain under the principle that ultimate dominion belonged to the discoverer. In 1663 the King of England vested title to the soil of North Carolina in eight Lords Proprietors, and in 1729 the Crown of Great Britain resumed title to the soil of the colony by purchasing it from the heirs and devisees of the original eight Lords. The transfer of power from officers appointed by the Proprietors to officers appointed by the Crown took several months and was not effected until February 25, 1731. As a result the Proprietary officers did not discontinue issuing patents in 1729 as they ought, but continued to grant them through November 1730.

For a number of reasons the first governor appointed by the Crown, George Burrington, did not open a land office. The first land office under Crown officers was opened under Governor Gabriel Johnston on May 12, 1735, and the first two "royal" patents were issued the following day, one to Cornelius Harnett and the other to Thomas Dallison.

In colonial North Carolina it was possible to obtain a grant of vacant land for importing people into the colony (called the headright grant) or to purchase vacant land from the government (a purchase grant). There were four basic steps in obtaining the document conveying title to the vacant land (which is what the patent is). The first step was to notify the secretary of the colony that one wished to have a particular piece of vacant land; at a meeting of the governor and council held to consider land matters (called the Court of Claims) the secretary read out the names of all who had petitioned for an entry on the land. (Researchers need not look for these "petitions" to the secretary since they no longer exist.) If the Court of Claims agreed to the entry, the person could then petition through the same process for a warrant. This document warranted, or authorized, the Crown surveyor to survey the land. When he had done so, a little map of the survey, called the plat, was returned by the surveyor in two copies to the secretary who then informed the Court of Claims that the individual petitioned for a patent. If the court agreed, and if all fees had been paid, the patent was then issued out of the secretary's office where it was recorded before the original patent was surrendered to the new landowner. The patent was also recorded in the office of the Crown auditor so that that officer would know who was to pay the annual tax on the land (called the quit rent). Even though the land itself was freely granted under the headright system, the paperwork was expensive. It is unlikely that the small farmer earned as much as £100 yearly in cash. The cost of the patent alone (not counting the other three steps) cost nearly £12 if the tract of land was one square mile (640 acres) or less. The governor received 10 shillings for signing the patent; the governor's secretary got 5 shillings for putting a wax seal to the document; the colonial secretary's underclerks got 1 shilling, fivepence for registering the patent; the clerk of the Court of Claims got a shilling for his trouble and another 7 shillings, sixpence for the petitioning process; the auditor was entitled to £3 for entering the patent in his records; the attorney general received £2 for examining the patent to be certain that the wording was correct and that the title was clearly and accurately conveyed; and the colonial secretary charged £5 for having written out the original patent and 10 shillings for his trouble. The whole granting process probably cost the average small farmer several months earnings, but in North Carolina where it was not possible to obtain title to land simply by squatting on it, the fees had to be paid in order to obtain clear title to vacant land. And it was a clear title in fee simple, despite statements to the contrary by Secretary of State Saunders in his notes to the published Colonial Records of North Carolina and by historians who have been misled by him. The new owner could and did sell the land subsequently or devise the land to his heirs absolutely at his pleasure and without consultation with government officials.

For her abstracts in this and the companion volume, the compiler has consulted and conflated the patent books in the office of the Secretary of State in Raleigh, the Auditor General's records of patents in the British Public Record Office in London, the provincial auditor's records of patents in the North Carolina State Archives and the Secretary of State's office in Raleigh, and the records of the colonial Court of Claims in the North Carolina State Archives. Researchers who wish to obtain copies of the patents in the abstracts or copies of surviving warrants and plats should address their inquiries to the Land Grant Office, New Legislative Office Building — Room 302, 300 North Salisbury Street, Raleigh, North Carolina 27611.

When Margaret Hofmann has completed her series of abstracts of colonial land patents, she will have sunk a shaft to a hitherto unworked mine of great richness for historians, economists, demographers, geographers, archaeologists, genealogists, and others possibly undreamed of. This volume is another milestone in her signal service to researchers in the records of her native state.

[From MS. Records in Office of Secretary of State.]

To His Excellency Josiah Martin Esq. Captain General, Governor and Commander in Chief in and over the Province of North Carolina, and to the Hon^{ble} the Council and Representatives in the House of Assembly.

The Petition of the Inhabitants of Wachovia or Dobbs Parish humbly sheweth, That in Consequence of an act of Parliament of the Twenty Second of His late Majesty's Reign, entitled an Act for encouraging the People known by the Name of the Unitas Fratrum or United Brethren to settle in His Majesty's Colonies in America (in which they were acknowledged to be an ancient protestant Episcopal Church, and that it would be beneficial to the Colonies, to encourage their moving thither in greater Numbers) the District of Wachovia was first settled by them, and their Improvements meeting with the Approbation of this Government in the year 1755 they were further favored with an Act of Assembly of this Province, intituled, "An Act for erecting that Part of Rowan County called Wachovia, into a distinct Parish, in which several Surveys of Land adjoining thereto were included under the Name of Dobbs Parish," has never been positively determined, since there were so many persons of the same name living contemporaneously in the same section, the task has been well nigh an impossible one.

This District, like many of the others, has representatives of the numerous Alexander family listed on the 1790 census, two heads of families being CAPTAIN STEPHEN and JOSIAH ALEXANDER. In this District lived two BROWNS, Benjamin and Samuel, two of the HENSONS, Thomas and Robert, James Bell and James Bradford and JAMES CARRIGAN, DENNIS COPELAND, and ISAAC, JOHN and DAVID DAVIS; John and ARCHIBALD GILMORE, JAMES GILLESPIE and three members of the HOUSTON family in the persons of JOHN and DAVID and CAPT. ARCHIBALD HOUSTON. DAVID TEMPLETON is also on this list, which indicates that some of these families lived in the upper section of the District, near ROWAN COUNTY, which was the home of many of the name HOUSTON. MOSES and ROBERT ANDREWS are also on the list.

Another interesting name on this list is that of CAPT. SAMUEL PICKENS, who in 1790 had three sons under 16 years of age and three daughters. One of these sons (b. in 1780) became Governor of the State of Alabama in 1821, the celebrated ISRAEL PICKENS - his brother EZEKIEL also went to Alabama and became a member of the highest court in the State. The latter died an old bachelor, but after a useful and distinguished career as a Judge on the bench of his adopted State. Captain Samuel Pickens was a brother in law of COL. JAMES WALKUP, who lived in District 17, an abstract of whose last will and testament will be found among the will records published in this volume. Colonel Walkup married MARGARET PICKENS, a sister of Captain Samuel.

D I S T R I C T N O. 9

This District, on the North side of ROCKY RIVER and extending to the line of ROWAN COUNTY, was the home of JOHN PHIFER, whose name does not appear on the 1790 list, but who was a son of MARTIN PHIFER, who had three sons, JOHN (the signer), MARTIN and GEORGE. Martin Phifer, the father, was a student of Hampden-Sydney College in Virginia. In this District also appears the name of a DAVID HOUSTON and that of CAPTAIN WILLIAM HOUSTON; the name of JOHN ALLISON and of JOHN ARMSTRONG SR. and his son JOHN JR., also JOHN, CHRISTOPHER and JOSHUA BAKER, and ROBERT BIGGER; three GLOVERS, three persons named HOLBROOK and ROBERT and RICHARD MARTIN. Samuel, Alexander and ROBERT PATTERSON lived in this District also, with five heads of families named ROGERS, including JOSEPH, MOSES, THOMAS, JAMES and SETH ROGERS; also a JOHN ROGERS. Another interesting set of persons were BENJAMIN, SAMUEL and JOSEPH PATTON, whose sons, some of them, migrated Westward and had much to do with the laying off and building of ASHVILLE, in Buncombe County, the site of which was owned by the firm of PATTON & ERWIN. This District was also the home of LUDOWICK, JEDIAH and JOHN WALLACE.

D I S T R I C T N O. 10.

MARTIN PHIFER, perhaps the father of CALEB, MARTIN and JOHN PHIFER (the signer) lived in this District. He is listed as "SR", indicating that he had a son MARTIN. He perhaps lived on the East side of "Scotch Buffalo" Creek, while his sons lived on the West side, with just the Creek between them. The name of MAT and GEORGE ROGERS appear also on this list, doubtless of the same breed as those in the Ninth District - just across the creek. We note that there were no less than four "heads of families" by the name of TOWNSEND living in this District - HENRY, WILLIAM, DUDLEY and GEORGE TOWNSEND. There were three persons named LEWIS - JACOB, CHRISTOPHER and the widow LEWIS. I wonder where they fit in the Lewis family History? There were no less than five "heads" by the name of CORZINE, and the only place I have run across that name was among some of the pioneers of early Texas history.

On this list I find the name of CHRISTIAN GOODNIGHT, which suggests the bare possibility that in this Mecklenburg research I may have run across the ancestor of the famous Texas cattle baron, the late CHARLES GOODNIGHT, who died a few years ago full of wealth, years and all the glamorous experiences of the Great plains country. He it was who preserved the almost extinct BUFFALO and kept it from dying out altogether. That his ancestors lived on "DUTCH BUFFALO CREEK" in Mecklenburg County (now CABARRUS), North Carolina, would be quite a coincidence. The entry shows that Christian Goodnight, in 1790, then had FOUR SONS all under 16 years of age. As Captain CHARLES GOODNIGHT lived to near the ripe age of 100 years it would be possible for him to have been a grandson of this entry.

D I S T R I C T N O. 11

The names on this list are of apparent Dutch origin, and it must have been the character of these settlers which gave the name "DUTCH BUFFALO" to the stream along which they settled. We find the names of ANDREW and ADAM CRUSE, doubtless ancestors of families of the name we have found in various parts of the West. The name BARRINGER appears; several persons named GOODMAN (a very common name throughout the country now); one CHRISTIAN GREGORY, one ALLEN and at least one person by the name of BROWN; otherwise there are few names in this section that one finds mentioned in the numerous "family histories" that have been committed to print. Any of the Anglo names found there may have been simply slightly altered to give them a convenient American sound. LONG, for instance, does not sound "Dutch", but research discloses that there was a family of "Dutchmen" living there at this period bearing the name LONG. HENRY LONG'S name is on this list. JACOB LONG, of the "Dutch family" of the name is found buried in an old cemetery in the Northern part of Union County — one a part of Mecklenburg - near Goose Creek, called "Bethlehem". There were no "signers" living in District No. 11 in 1790, so far as this record discloses.

D I S T R I C T N O. 12

This list is headed by the name of PAUL BARRINGER, with JOHN BARRINGER listed a few names lower down. Many of the family names on this list are the same as those in District 11, as this part of the District was the home of the same class of settlers as the one below it. It is obvious that the settlement, extending from ROCKY RIVER to the line of ROWAN COUNTY was a long one, and it was found convenient to divide it in taking the census.

THE ACCOUNT BOOK OF PASTOR STORCH

By Ute-Ingrid Seidler

"1792 - June 12th - married - Michael Holzhauser and Elisab(eth) Schuman - paper money - 10 s(hillings)."

The preceding record of a Rowan County marriage has been preserved because Pastor Storch kept careful records of all income received for his services. Since these services included weddings, confirmations, funerals, and the loan of books and money, his account book, which is now at the Lutheran Synod House in Salisbury, provides a valuable source of historical and genealogical information. Access to this record has, in the past, been limited by the 18th Century German script in which it was written.

The contents of the account book, several of the more useful parts of which will be published in this journal, are generally as follows: From 1785, income and expenses in Germany; journey from Germany to North Carolina; autobiography; expenses for purchase and improvement of house; monies received from congregations in Salisbury, Organ Church, and the Irish Settlement; confirmations; marriages, funerals, and baptisms; books loaned; purchases and amounts owed for loans and services; and a list of persons who ordered books from Germany.

Only two parts of the book were written in narrative form; and their translations follow:

(From Germany to North Carolina)

Departed Fresenhede for North Carolina in North America on April 16, 1788. The reason for this long and dangerous journey was the following:

A preacher sent from Germany to North Carolina in 1773, the still living Adolph Nussmann, requested some assistant preachers from the Abbot Velthusen in Helmstedt. Abbot Velthusen chose me for, and persuaded me to take, the journey. By permission and order of the Duke, I was examined by 5 Helmstedt professors and ordained by Abbot Velthusen as a preacher for North Carolina. The travel expenses were all paid, and at the same time I was given the requested written guarantee by our ruler that if I should return after several years, I would then receive my normal promotion in the homeland. Under such conditions I then went to sea with trust in God on May 4th, 1788, and arrived happily in America, namely first in the city Baltimore on June 27th of the same year. Thus the whole voyage lasted seven weeks, five days. In Baltimore I found a good kindly reception, and after a pleasant six weeks stay there I travelled by water to Charleston in 6 days. In Charleston I tarried only 14 days, and rode on a horse, which I bought there for 11 pounds sterling, to Pastor Nussmann, a distance, the way I went, of 300 English miles. In the beginning of the month of September, (17)88, I came to Mr. Nussmann, who has a congregation at Buffalo Creek. After I had rested there, we made arrangements with the congregations who wanted me as their preacher. Three congregations elected and called me: Namely, the one in Salisbury where I first made my residence; the second on the upper Second Creek, called Organ Church, 10 miles from the town of Salisbury. The third, of the Peint Church, which, however, I had to give up again, and thus for now only 2 congregations, the one in Salisbury and the Organ Church, which have promised me in writing 80 pounds North Carolina paper money yearly. The funeral services and weddings will be paid separately, usually with a 1/8 Thaler. In the Organ Church I began my service the 23rd Sunday after Trinity, and in Salisbury the 24th Sunday after Trinity. On January 7th, 1789, I started preaching once a month to the congregation in the Irish Settlement, for which 13 to 14 pounds N.C. are promised to me annually.

(An Autobiographical Sketch)

I, Carl August Gottlieb Storch, was born in Helmstedt in the Duchy of Braunschweig on June 16, in the year 1764. My father's name was Georg Friedrich Storch, a native of the town Danneberg. He was a merchant in Helmstedt. My mother's name was von Asseburg. In 1799 I was confirmed by Abbot Velthusen. Thereafter I attended the high school of Helmstedt for 3 years, and after being declared qualified by the director of the same, Professor Mindeberg, in 1782 I became a student at the University of Helmstedt. After I devoted myself there for 3 years to theological studies, in 1785 Abbot Velthusen recommended me to Major von Scheither in Gifthorn as private tutor for Junker [young nobleman] von Hodenberg, where I remained for only one year because the Junker von Hodenberg was chosen as a page in Hannover. Afterwards, in 1786, I went to Fresenhede near Bremen as the teacher for the merchant Friesen's children. And after I had been there for 2 years a call and order came from Abbot Velthusen to go as a preacher to North Carolina. I was examined and ordained to the office of preacher, in May 1788 I departed from Germany, and arrived in America at the end of June of the same year. God be praised that until now he has so wonderfully and fatherly led me and in danger kept me safe. I chose my first residence in Salisbury with Lewis Beard, where I took room and board on November 8, 1788.

On January 14, 1790, I married Christina, daughter of the late Joh. Ludw. Bahrdt, resident and tanner of Sale[sbury] in North Carolina, his third legitimate daughter. She was born on November 9th in the Year of Our Lord 1769.

INTRODUCTION

The earliest concentrated settlement of Germans in western Maryland was located in what is known as Frederick County today, but what in the middle of the eighteenth century was known far and wide as the Monocacy settlement, for the river which flows southward toward the Potomac through it and makes something of a valley between the Catoctin Mountain on the west and ridges on the east. Although no one is certain, the date of the first settlement is before 1735 and the cause of settlement Lord Baltimore's discovery that some of those bound from the older settlements of Germans in Pennsylvania to the more recent settlement of Germans in Virginia could remain as settlers in the valley along the Monocacy. In 1732 he issued an inviting proclamation to that effect. After 1745 the village, later city, of Frederick became the urban center of the settlement, and later in the eighteenth century more villages developed within it. Frederick County was erected in 1748.[1]

Apart from the family and the family farm, the first institutions to emerge among these settlers were their churches. Since these Germans had come from the Palatinate in Germany, in which the Calvinist (Reformed) and Lutheran faiths existed side by side, we find churches of these denominations established early in the period of settlement. The Lutherans use a founding date of 1738,[2] but as early as 1734 there is record of pastoral acts performed along the Monocacy by John Casper Stoever (1707-1779), a Lutheran clergyman whose name is connected with the establishment of many of the earliest Lutheran congregations in southeastern Pennsylvania.[3] The Reformed have concrete records of ministerial activity in 1747, but there is every reason to believe that there had been a congregation in existence prior to that date.[4] Undoubtedly the two groups wor-

[3] Stoever kept a record of baptisms and marriages he performed. The original record is in the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia. A translation was made by F. J. F. Schantz and was published in Harrisburg in 1896. The translation is generally accurate, but it somehow missed the first entries Stoever made, contains a measure of errors, and fails to make comparisons with the church registers in which Stoever also wrote. A new translation is long overdue.

shipped side by side in a church built in 1743 in a location somewhere near Jimtown, as yet -- in spite of many claims -- not positively located. By 1746 the Lutherans and very likely the Reformed began to worship also in the new village of "Fredericktown." Within a few decades there are only occasional references to the mother church -- "the church in the hills," they called it -- and presently the site was completely abandoned and any members associated with it had gone to other, newer churches. Generally, the Lutheran element seems to have outnumbered the Reformed element.

It fell to these churches to preserve records of births, marriages, and burials which took place in the community. Paper of any description for writing was uncommon on the frontier; it was not until 1742 that the Lutherans and 1753, the Reformed began to make regular records of such events.[5] Although the pastor Gabriel Naesman who officially opened the record of the Lutheran congregation in 1746 stated specifically that the book should contain births, marriages, and burials, it was not until 1771 that a register of deaths was begun, and marriages were recorded sporadically before that year. The baptisms were entered more or less faithfully from 1742. It must be obvious at once that the surviving records cover only a portion of the settlers, for some lived too far to call a pastor for a burial, for instance; or were estranged from the church; and there were periods during which no pastor was available and no records kept.

Nevertheless, the basic primary source for information concerning the earliest settlement in the Monocacy River basin is the record left by these congregations, and because of age and size, the Lutheran parochial records assume first importance. The following pages contain a translation of two of the categories of records in the earliest Lutheran registers -- the marriages from 1743 to 1811, the burials from 1771 to 1807.

A transcription of the records of the Reformed Church in Frederick was made by William J. Hinke. Copies may be obtained on microfilm from the Historical Society of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, Philip Schaff Library, Lancaster Theological Seminary, Lancaster, Pennsylvania. In addition, when the old Lutheran congregation around Jimtown ceased to function (leaving the Lutheran congregation in Frederick as its sole successor), a dissolution which probably occurred under the pressure of the Moravians, Lutherans in the area gradually became part of one of three congregations:

[5] Wentz, 64-66, discusses the Lutheran Church record. Cunz, 70, discusses the Reformed situation.

1. Saint Peter's (now Grace), Rocky Hill, near Woodsboro. The records contain primarily baptisms and begin in 1767. The originals are in the Lutheran Theological Seminary, Gettysburg. A translation/transcription has been prepared by the undersigned, covering the years 1767-1889.
2. Saint John's (Apple's) near Thurmont. The Lutheran element withdrew from this union church in 1857. The records are union and are in the Philip Schaff Library, Lancaster. A translation was made by E. E. Higbee in 1857, which was revised by Elizabeth Kieffer and published under the title Baptismal Records of Apple's Church (Lutheran and Reformed) (near Thurmont, Maryland) 1773-1848 in 1963.
3. Saint John's, Creagerstown. Although this congregation tries to represent itself as the continuation of the "Monocacy Church," its case is poorly made. Shortly before 1790 a new congregation was gathered in the new village of Creagerstown. This was also a union church. The original records are at the church itself. A translation/transcription, 1789-1940, was made by the undersigned.

It should be pointed out that the Moravians organized a congregation in the Monocacy settlement as early as the 1750's and that records of this congregation exist from 1759. Many earlier Lutheran or Reformed families are represented in these records. The originals are deposited in the Moravian Archives, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania. An excellent translation/transcription/compilation [since the Moravians kept the best, but also the most complicated records among Pennsylvania German groups] was made in 1942 by Henry James Young.

The records of these various congregations are the sources for continuous investigations of families in the Monocacy settlement during the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries. After 1800 other congregations were gradually formed, whose records would need to be surveyed for further data.

The two volumes of the Lutheran parish registers from which the records hereafter transcribed were taken contain also records of baptisms and of confirmations, communicants, and contributors -- all of which contain valuable vital statistics and names of early settlers. The confirmation records, for instance, frequently give the name of the child's parents and his age or even his birthdate.

The Marriage Records

In the eighteenth century marriage was usually done after the proclamation of the banns -- announcing in the church three times the intention of the couple to marry -- or with a license from a legal authority. The pastors in Frederick frequently noted the means by which a marriage was performed. They were also careful to record the names of witnesses, the location of the marriage, sometimes even the groom's occupation, all of which is helpful to the genealogist.

Identifying precisely the place names cited in the marriage records has not been done, but it might be pointed out that a wide expanse of Carroll, Frederick, and Washington Counties in Maryland is apparently involved. Now and again there are locations of more than passing interest cited, as for instance in 1797, when a member of the glassmaking Amelung family was married at "New Bremen," site of the famous Glasshouse. Even more helpful are the occasional references to the former home of the couple's parents or themselves, when this is located elsewhere than in Frederick County.

All entries have been transcribed precisely as they appear in the original record, with all names spelled (or misspelled) as they are there. Sometimes the pastor entered a variant form of a family name in parenthesis, which has been preserved. And the English names which were strange to the German pastors are often spelled as they seemed they should be, according to German orthography. A little imagination and the correct form of the name will be evident.

The Burial Records

Even more than the records of weddings, the entries of burials provide valuable data to the genealogist. For instance, many of the records indicate earlier homes of the persons involved in America and in Europe. (In our translation the current spelling of the village and its Landkreis (or county) are provided in parentheses. Where there is no such data one may conclude that the city mentioned is a large one, which should be readily apparent; or that there are a number of possible places of the name given.)

The cause of death is usually indicated. Knowledge of disease in the eighteenth and early nineteenth century was vastly different from the 1970's. We have translated the causes given (where possible) without interpretation; but they should probably not be taken too literally. People no doubt died of heart failure and of cancer then, too; but there is not a single case of either on the records. There is one reference in 1791 to an epidemic "Influenz," but the presence of other epidemics -- especially among children -- is evident in these records.

The causes of death frequently provide windows into the nature of life in the city and county of Frederick during the years involved. Children die by falling into a mill race, by falling from a horse, by falling into the kitchen fire, by eating poisonous seeds, by tumbling into a tub of boiling hot soapy water. Young men die by accidents in construction, by accidental drowning while swimming, through an accident when they engage in buffoonery while riding (June 1786), through an accidental shot. There were family quarrels which resulted in murder (April 1787), wagons which upset on the highway (December 1791), wives who ran off (April 1792), immigrants whose families died at sea and who then died themselves (August 1792). Soldiers stationed or imprisoned near Frederick died during the Revolution. Especially poignant is one entry from May, 1778, in which an eleven year old was accidentally shot during the celebration of the alliance between the United States and France; and the one about a fifteen year old lad who died on Christmas Day, 1804, after being struck by a brick thrown from the house of a woman, "whose true character is a publically known whore!"

Here, too, the crafts of a small colonial and early national town are apparent: there are coppersmiths, silversmiths, bookbinders, dyers, clockmakers, ropemakers, glassmakers, doctors, weavers, hatmakers, locksmiths, saddlers, teachers, apprentices, slaves, a "putcher" and a "storkipper!"

No effort has been made to verify the accuracy of the dates of birth or of the ages cited in the entries. There is no question but that there are errors in the records as they appear (the year of marriage for a couple varies in the entries of their deaths, made but a few months apart in 1805 and 1806, for instance). Anyone using this material would do well to check it against other sources for certification of its accuracy; but because such sources are frequently lacking, the data cited here is of great value.

Although names have been given exactly as they appear, there are obvious variations in the spelling of a surname. Imagination, knowledge of the sounds of German letters, and especially of vowels, will bring results when using the index. The initials N. N. might be explained, since thay are not those of a person's name, but rather indication that the name was unknown to the recording pastor.

Frequently, the feminine form is added to women's names. This usually is -in, although it can be simply -n and in some examples there are other slight changes in the name as the "n" sound is added.

These endings should be dropped, of course, in determining the the family name proper, but dropping them must take cognizance of the possibility that the name was altered to suit the ending. (This applies chiefly to names already ending in a vowel.)

All in all, the records of marriages and burials derive importance not only because of their genealogical richness or for the color they add to history, but also because Frederick was located at the intersection of a great highway leading to the South from Pennsylvania and of a great highway -- the National Road -- leading to the West. These records join other published records from Frederick County, some of which have been published by the National Genealogical Society previously in its periodical; at the same time they call for more of the same.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The original records are placed for safekeeping in the Abdel Ross Wentz Library of the Lutheran Theological Seminary, Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, and were translated by the undersigned during his appointment as archivist of that institution. They are reproduced here through the courtesy also of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Frederick and of its pastor, The Reverend Doctor Francis E. Reinberger. A good bit of the work of preparing them was shared by Mrs. William E. Hutchison, of Gettysburg. Professor Calvin Schildknecht of Gettysburg College, who has concerned himself with early Frederick County History, offered some helpful information and Miss Margaret Myers of Frederick, a student of early Frederick County records, verified some readings. The German information about place names was provided by Dr. Fritz Braun, formerly of the Heimatstelle Pfalz, Kaiserslautern. Pastor Larry Neff, as always, has shared his knowledge of German and of the Pennsylvania German dialect evident here and again in these records. To all of them -- in the language of those people whose lives are mentioned in these pages -- a hearty Vergelt's Gott! -- May God repay.

NORTH CAROLINA WILLS:

A Testator Index, 1665 – 1900

Thornton W. Mitchell

Corrected and Revised Edition

In one volume

Thelma Blackburn has this book of Union troops from General Stoneman's command threw records from the courthouse and burned them. Will books and original wills were included. Some original wills probated prior to 1865 survived and are in the State Archives; included are copies of wills from other sources such as North Carolina Supreme Court original case papers. As of June 1, 1986, original wills proved after 1868 remained in the custody of the county clerk of superior court.

015--Bute County

Formed 1764 from Granville County; abolished 1779 when the county was divided between Franklin and Warren counties. Wills were recorded in record books that contained inventories, accounts, and other estate data. Bute County Record Book 1 is in the State Archives; Records Books 2 and 3 became Warren County Will Books 1 and 2. Surviving original wills are in the State Archives as records of Bute County. Some original wills probated in Warren County after 1779 are in the Bute County records in the Archives.

016--Cabarrus County

Formed 1792 from Mecklenburg County. Recording of wills in Will Book 1 began in 1843, although wills had been copied into the minutes of the county court of pleas and quarter sessions beginning in 1830. In 1875, a courthouse fire destroyed some records, including most of the original wills. The surviving original wills were principally for testators with surnames beginning with the letters H, M, W, and Y. At a later date, these surviving wills were copied into Will Book A. Many of the original wills are missing.

017--Caldwell County

Formed 1841 from Burke and Wilkes counties. Recording of wills began in 1841, and there appears to have been no significant loss of records.

018--Camden County

Formed 1777 from Pasquotank County. Will Books A and B, covering the period to 1822, are missing; the late William Perry Johnson stated that they were burned during the Civil War but did not indicate the source of his information. The earliest probate date of surviving original wills is 1859. It is known that Union troops moved across Camden County when returning to Currituck Court House after occupying Elizabeth City in December, 1863; there is, however, no indication that Camden County courthouse was burned or that records of the county were destroyed.

019--Carteret County

Formed 1722 from Craven County. Beginning in 1765, wills were recorded in a "Record of Wills and Bonds" by Rob Read, cle of court. This record book is in the State Archives and i bound into a miscellaneous volume, beginning at leaf 55; t volume has a shelf call number 019.405.1. There is some indication that part of this volume, which is identified a Record Book A, may have been lost. Some of the original wills recorded in what is now identified as Will Book A indicate that they were recorded in Will Book B. The existing Will Book A does not begin until 1830. Wills probated prior to 1830 were recorded in Will Book D and th first several pages of Will Book E in 1908. The court of pleas and quarter sessions of Carteret County was "Suspend by U. S. Martial Law" after February, 1862, and no wills were probated in the county until November term, 1865.

020--Caswell County

Formed 1777 from Orange County. Recording of wills began 1777 in what are identified as record books (RB). These books were lettered A through T (excluding J); beginning i 1868; the county maintained will books that are identified by letters beginning with A. As of June 1, 1986, original wills of the county for the period after 1867 are in the custody of the Caswell County clerk of superior court.

021--Catawba County

Formed 1842 from Lincoln County. The first wills were recorded in 1843. There has been no significant loss of records of the county.

022--Chatham County

Formed 1771 from Orange County. Recording of wills in the record book identified as Will Book A began in 1798; according to the originals of the first wills registered in the volume, it was initially identified as "Book D." From February court, 1784, until February court, 1794, wills wer recorded in a record book identified as "Deeds, Bills of Sale, Inventories of Estates, Wills," which is referred to in entries for Chatham County wills as RB-1. This record volume is now in the State Archives; the shelf call number is 022.801.23. This record book was originally identified as "Book B." "Book C," which includes deeds, bills of sale inventories of estates, accounts of sale as well as wills for the period 1794-1798, is also in the State Archives and is referred to as RB-2. The volume is identified as "Recor of Wills, Book A, Part 1" (shelf number 022.801.18). "Book A," containing recorded copies of wills for the period prio to 1784 has disappeared.

Town and represented both Hyde and Beaufort counties until 1739 when the precinct system was superseded. The Beaufort County court continued to sit at Bath Town and succeeded to the records of the combined court. There are, therefore, some Hyde County wills and deeds among Beaufort County records. About 1756 Hyde County court began keeping a record of wills and other estate data which it identified as an orphan book. This record was discontinued about 1764 and is now in the State Archives. In 1765 the county began a series containing wills, inventories, and accounts which it identified as will books. In 1899 and 1900 only the wills from Will Books 1, 2, and 3 were copied into a record that the county identified as Will Book 1 2 3; because of the limitations of space, this transcribed record is identified in the listing of Hyde County wills as "RW-1" (Record of Wills 1). The originals of Will Books 1, 2, and 3 are in the State Archives. After RW-1, the next wills are recorded in Will Book 4, pages 168-201 of which are blank. Entries in Will Book 9 and 10 indicate that many were not recorded until 1868. The first part of Will Book 10 consists of a 1828 and 1829 trial docket of the Hyde County court of pleas and quarter sessions. Many of the original wills for the early period of the county are missing.

054--Iredell County

Formed 1788 from Rowan County. In 1854 fire destroyed most of Statesville, the county seat, but will books and most of the original wills survived. Surviving original wills appear to have been copied into the first 275 pages of Will Book 1 about 1810; thereafter wills appear to have been recorded as they were proved. As of June 1, 1986, surviving original wills proved to 1870 were in the State Archives; original wills after that date were in the custody of the Iredell County clerk of superior court.

055--Jackson County

Formed 1851 from Haywood and Macon counties. The first will was proved in the county in 1853, and until 1868 wills were recorded in a record identified as Inventory Docket (ID). Two wills were copied into the minutes of the county court of pleas and quarter sessions without being otherwise recorded. Beginning in 1869 wills were recorded in will books. None of the original wills of the county have survived, apparently having been lost when the county seat moved from Webster to Sylva in 1913. There was an earlier disasterous fire in Webster, but it is not known if the courthouse was burned.

056--Johnston County

Formed 1746 from Craven County. In 1758 Dobbs County was formed from the eastern portion of Johnston County and the county court moved westward to Hinton's Quarter, leaving i records in Dobbs. The volume was not great, but with the exception of a grantee index to deeds all early records of Johnston County were destroyed when the courthouse in Lenoir, which had succeeded to the records of Dobbs, burnec in 1878 and 1880. Although existing Will Book 1 begins in 1787, Johnson began to record wills as early as 1759; in th State Archives a fragment of a record book containing wills has been mounted and bound into Deed Book D. This fragment is in very poor condition and is obviously not complete; it does, however, include four wills not otherwise recorded. Reference to wills bound with Deed Book D is to the leaf (L on which four pages of the original volume has been mounted There is some evidence that Will Books 1 and 2 were copied at a later date; an original will recorded in Will Book 1 a page 430 contains a notation that it was recorded in book 10, page 12. Johnston County also maintained record books bearing varying titles but usually referred to as "Record o Estates." These have been indexed by the staff of the Stat Archives. At least eleven wills not otherwise recorded wer entered in these estate books which are cited as "Est" followed by the volume and page number. Only one of the original wills so recorded has survived. Will Book 1 begin with wills proved in 1787; after recording wills proved in 1860, the same volume included wills proved between 1760 an 1770. Will Book 2 includes wills proved from 1860 to 1868, then wills probated in the period 1892-1896, followed by wills proved in the 1770s and later. Except for the early record books of wills, there has been no significant loss o records of the county.

057--Jones County

Formed 1779 from Craven County. The first will was recorde in 1781. In 1862, in a battle between Union and Confederate troops, the Jones County courthouse burned. The record volume in which wills were recorded survived, as did virtually all of the original wills. It should be noted, however, that no wills were recorded in the period 1862-186 or in 1867.

058--Lee County

Formed 1907 from Moore and Chatham counties. Not included in this index.

legislation ratified January 9, 1959 (Ch. 32, Public Laws of 1858-1859 Session), the General Assembly permitted the filing of copies of documents when the court records had been burned and the filing of oral or written statements of the contents of wills in such instances. Although the legislation was occasioned by the burning of the Pitt County courthouse, it had general applicability throughout the state. In Pitt County, copies of a number of wills were refiled with the clerk and were probated again. There is also some indication that families refiled copies of wills without requesting that they be probated a second time; the will of Elizabeth Tison, for example, bears a notation that it is a copy of "Grandma Tyson's will."

--Polk County

Formed 1855 from Rutherford and Henderson counties. In an act ratified January 18, 1847, the General Assembly created a Polk County from Rutherford County and that portion of Henderson County that had originally belonged to Rutherford. By action ratified January 16, 1849, the act creating Polk County was repealed. All records of the Polk County court of pleas and quarter sessions were required to be delivered to the clerk of the Rutherford County court of pleas and quarter sessions; none of them have survived, either as records of Polk or of Rutherford County. When Polk County was reestablished in 1855, wills for the period 1855-1867 were recorded in a record identified as a Will Docket (WD). This record is now in the State Archives. In August, 1892, the seventeen wills originally recorded in the Will Docket were copied into Will Book 1 which started in 1868. There has been no signficant loss of records of the county after 1855.

1--Randolph County

Formed 1779 from Guilford County. Recording of wills began in 1784. Some of the original wills are missing, and many of those that have survived appear to have been damaged by water. Some of the water-damaged originals are virtually illegible.

2--Richmond County

Formed 1779 from Anson County. Apparently wills began to be recorded on a regular basis about 1830. In 1835 all surviving unrecorded wills were transcribed into a record book that is now identified as Will Book 1. A fragment of an original record of wills and inventories for the period 1789-1807 has survived and is now in the State Archives. One of the wills recorded in this fragment has not been otherwise recorded and is referred to in the wills for Richmond County by Archives stack number 082.801.1. An additional record book in the State Archives that is identified as "Wills Proved in County Court (1848-1864)" also contains recorded copies of wills. This appears to be another copy of Will Book 4.

083--Robeson County

Formed 1787 from Bladen County. Wills were not recorded on a regular basis until about 1830, when the county court ordered that all unrecorded wills were to be recorded. All of the wills on the first 250 pages of Will Book 1 are in the same handwriting and appear to have been entered at that time. In May term, 1838, the court found "that there still remains a number unrecorded," and James Storm was ordered to record the balance of the wills. Although there has been no major loss of records, some of the original wills are missing.

084--Rockingham County

Formed 1785 from Guilford County. Recording of wills did not begin until 1804, and surviving originals of recorded wills were in the custody of the clerk of superior court as of June 1, 1986. About 1955 a group of unrecorded wills was found in the courthouse; in 1957 photostatic copies of these wills were placed in a record book identified by the title Old Wills Discovered in Office Dated Prior to 1804 (OW). The originals of these unrecorded wills are in the State Archives.

085--Rowan County

Formed 1753 from Anson County. Recording of wills began in 1760, and there has been no significant loss of records. From about 1780 to about 1800, the county appears to have recorded wills in blocks arranged by first letter of the surname but not in alphabetical order. Several of the Rowan County original wills are in German and unless they were translated at the time of probate, the contents were not recorded in the will books. Ute-Ingrid Seidler translated and abstracted German language wills of Rowan County in the State Archives in North Carolina Genealogical Society Journal, Vol. 1, No. 3 (July, 1975), pp. 136-140.

086--Rutherford County

Formed 1779 from Tryon County. Surviving registers of recorded wills date from 1782, probably because the site of the meetings of the county court was not fixed in the early years of the county. Will Books A, B, and C are recording

059--Lenoir County

Formed 1791 from Dobbs County. In 1878 and again in 1880 the county courthouse burned, destroying most records. A will book that began in 1869 survived, but original wills probated prior to 1878 were destroyed. As of May 1, 1986, all surviving original wills were in the custody of the Lenoir County clerk of superior court.

060--Lincoln County

Formed 1779 from Tryon County, the records of which were turned over to Lincoln. Lincoln County began to record wills in 1824. In 1899, following ratification of an act by the General Assembly requiring the indexing of all wills filed in the clerk's office and an order on June 5, 1899, by the Lincoln County board of commissioners, a cross index of all wills was prepared. Included were all surviving original wills probated prior to September term, 1824, as well as those proved at a later date. A total of 1,201 wills were indexed, including 455 proved through 1824. A few of the pre-1824 wills that were indexed are now missing. Several wills that have been out of public custody have been included in the Lincoln County listing and are indicated by the symbol AR/CRX. Some original wills probated by the Tryon County court are included with the Lincoln County wills in the State Archives.

061--Macon County

Formed 1828 from Haywood County. Recording of wills began in 1830. There is no known loss of records and the will books appear to be complete, but many of the original wills are missing.

062--Madison County

Formed 1851 from Buncombe and Yancey counties. Recording of wills began in 1851 and there has been no significant loss of records.

063--Martin County

Formed 1774 from Halifax and Tyrrell counties. The county courthouse burned in 1885, and although the recorded will books from time of the formation of the county survived, original wills probated before 1885 were destroyed.

064--McDowell County

Formed 1842 from Burke and Rutherford counties. Recording of wills appears to have started upon creation of the county and there has been no substantial loss of records.

065--Mecklenburg County

Formed 1762 from Anson County. About 1850 the county began to record wills as they were proved. With the exception of some pages in Will Book I, beginning in the 1840s, the first nine will books appear to have been copied at a later date. Will Books A-I are in the State Archives. There appears to have been no significant loss of records.

066--Mitchell County

Formed 1861 from Yancey, Watauga, Caldwell, Burke, and McDowell counties. Will record books that have survived date from 1889, although surviving original wills that were probated at an earlier date indicate that wills were recorded in other record volumes that have not survived.

067--Montgomery County

Formed 1779 from Anson County. The courthouse burned in 1843, destroying almost all of the clerk's records including will books and original wills. Beginning with the September, 1843, term of the county court, a new will book was started and identified as Will Book 1. Later, certified copies of wills proved before 1843 were reprobated and were recorded. Another fire in 1886 damaged some of the records but reports of loss appear to have been exaggerated.

068--Moore County

Formed 1785 from Cumberland County. Recording of wills did not begin until 1794. Will Book A also contains court minutes, bonds, and other data; the page numbers in the record volume were assigned at a later date. The book appears to consist of several separate volumes that were combined and bound together. After 1868 original wills were placed in special proceedings files; in September 1889, the courthouse burned and virtually all loose records, including original wills proved prior to 1868 as well as special proceedings files, were destroyed. The will books survived, as did other records in bound form. Surviving original wills after 1889 are in the special proceedings files and may be located by means of a probate docket in the office of the Moore County clerk of superior court. Many of the original wills are missing. A few wills are in the State Archives and some are in the custody of the county clerk of superior court, but virtually none of the original wills probated in Moore County have survived.

069--Nash County

Formed 1777 from Edgecombe County. Recording of wills began in 1778; until about 1873 wills were registered in four

107--Yancey County

Formed 1833 from Burke and Buncombe counties. Recording of wills began in 1834, but virtually none of the original wills have survived.

Dear Mary,

-8/16/01

As mentioned in my email, I received your envelope with Frederick Walker's will inside.

I thank you very much for taking the time to do this—really I cannot say thank you enough!

This give me the names of Frederick's children. Frederick was the son of John Adam Walcher/Walker. Many of the family kept the German surname Walcher, but some used the English version of Walker. This has made research a bit confusing and almost like searching for Smith or Jones!

I hope your health continues to hold and that you are able to do the things you enjoy. Again, thanks so much!

Sincerely,

The Petition

The honoruble the General Assembly if the [torn]

The petition of a number [torn] of the County of Rowan humbly sheweth, [torn] that we your petitioners of the [torn] County beg leave to observe to your honorable body [torn] many disadvantages in attending the elections for representatives in said County by means of the great distance that we live from the Court house in the town of Salisbury, and often intercepted by high water courses.[1] From which reason we remonstrate against the disadvantage under which we live; that we as free citizens have often not had the privilege that the nature of our government entitles us to in voting for our representative; when our neighboring counties participate greater advantages by obtaining seperate elections: when they are not so numerous as we of the County of Rowan. We in number amount to about three thousand voters; and seldom not more than four or five hundred are given in at the town of Salisbury. We must again assert our rights as free citizens; and pray that your honorable body would grant us a seperate election in the third battalion to be holden at the dwelling house of Andrew Mocks: which we do not desire through any faction or party work; for we can assure your honorable body that as little of that business is carried on in this County, as in any other of this State. In granting us this, we your petitioners will ever pray

SOME PAST HISTORY OF THE WALCHER FAMILY

By Fern Aengsinger Hyten 1962 presented by Bertha Miller

The Walcher family came originally from Germany, first settling in Pennsylvania. Later they migrated to North Carolina and then to Montgomery county Illinois. Grandfather John Henry Walcher married Elizabeth Lucretia Welker. They were both born in the 1830's. The Welkers home was located near Perryville, Missouri. Grandfather John H. Walcher enlisted in the Cival War, with the union forces October 18, 1861, serving in company F, 5th Regiment, Infantry, Missouri volunteers. He served only a short time, being discharged because of poor eyesight. He then studied for the ministry and became a Lutheran Minister. He came to Jefferson county Kansas where he farmed and preached. It was there he died and is buried.

Grandmother Lucretia Walcher took her family of boys back to the Welker home in Missouri for a time. They also spent some time with relatives in Hillsboro, Illinois. Later they came to Woodson County Kansas to spend a winter with the Hefleys. Great Aunt Clementine Hefley was a sister of Grandfather John H. Walcher.

Kansas was much in the news at that time as a new frontier, with land to be had for the taking plus a dollar and a quarter an acre. So in April of 1875, the Hefley family, a cousin John Walcher and family, and Grandmother Lucretia Walcher with her boys, came to Sumner County, ten miles south of Wellington and filed their claims. The Hefleys lived where Bob Walcher now lives, the John Walchers across the road and Grandmother Lucretia settled on a partially improved place in the section where Albert M. B. Walcher lived for many years. They came by covered wagon some pulled by oxen driving 8 head of milk cows. South Haven was their post office and Wellington was the county seat. The railroad was no closer than Wichita.

Several other families who came to settle in the same community were, the Popplewells, Granthams, Harkeys, Ridenours, and Whittens. Some of them relatives of the Walchers. So many came from Illinois that the community and later the school became known as Illinois.

Some of their early experiences in their new homes are interesting. They told of picking up buffalo bones to be sold, shipped out, and ground into fertilizer. They went down into Indian Territory and hauled out wood, some to be sold, and some used in their buildings. That first spring they planted corn by chopping slits in the ground with an ax, then dropping in the grain. It produced anazingly in the new sod without cultivation. Watermellons, cantelope, pumpkins, squash, and citrons planted like corn grew like weeds. They started a small orchard and sent back to Illinois for Osage Orange seed (hedge) and planted a small nursery--- later transplanting it and using it for fences.

Great Uncle Lem Hefley was a hunter and kept the families supplied with meat as well as helping with their livelihood. He used to go down into "Indian Territory" (now Oklahoma) to hunt. He took some of his own boys as well as Albert M. B., Ben and U. S. Walcher and their cousin Tom Wynn. Uncle Ben Walcher was for many years a faithful companion of Uncle Lem Hefley on his hunting expeditions. On one of those trips they brought back 303 prarie chickens. These netted over $100. which was good pay in those days. Another time they brought back five antelope, six deer, and some turkeys, which meant food for all and big money.

The boys spent some time fishing and playing on "Shoofly" Creek west of their homes. Cousin Jesse Hefley told of some of their pranks. Once they roasted a woodrat and a hawk. They didnot find either very palatable, but they had heard that the Indians ate most everything, so decided to try it too. Jessee Hefley and Uncle Charles D. L. Walcher tried to learn to walk a tight rope, but were never able to get very high off the ground. They told of going to a Chavari for Beaman Smiths. Uncle U. S. Walcher had married Beamans sister so he was sort'a kinfolks.

Grandmother Lucretia Walcher died in 1878 leaving five orphan boys Albert M.B, Benjamin I., Andrew U. S., Charles D. L., and Rush Q.

Great Aunt Eliza Welker came from Missouri to keep house for the boys. Uncle Charlie and Uncle Rush both lived with neighbor families, working for their board and room. The story has been told of Uncle Rush having to pick up cobs in freezing weather and thereby losing several toes.

There was not much schooling for those boys, but Uncle Charlie Walcher and Jessee Hefley did attend Ft. Scott Normal College in 1888.

In January 1883 Albert M. B. Walcher went back to Perryville, Missouri and married Lidonia Alice Wynn, whom he had met there while staying in his grandparents, the Welkers home. They rode into Perryville on horseback, with the rest of the Wynn family coming in the wagon for the ceremony. After the wedding they rode on a steamboat up the Mississippi River to St. Louis and took the train from there to Wellington, Kansas. Some of the boys met them in a wagon to take them to their home.

Uncle U. S. Walcher married Clara B. Smith in 1887.

Uncle Charles D. L. Walcher married Jennie M. Paddock at Raymond, Illinois in January 1890.

Uncle Rush Q. Walcher married Carrie Alderson in October 1893

Uncle Benjamin I. Walcher remained a batchelor

Personal Reminiscences of Lutheranism
by Rev. S.W. Harkey D.D.

The following article we copy from the Lutheran Observer, published at Philadelphia Pa. We publish it from the fact it might be interesting to those of our Lutheran subscribers of whom we have many, and also from the fact that Rev. Daniel Walcher, spoken of in the article as the first Lutheran minister of Illinois, resided near Litchfield, Ill., and to the reader, the more interesting because the aged widow of the Rev. Daniel Walcher is now living, and has been for several years, here in Pana, Ill. with her esteemed daughter, Mrs. Kate Surbeck.....

(Rev. S.W. Harkey) I have stated that my first visit to Illinois was made in the summer of 1838, and I was fourteen days in coming from Frederick Maryland to St. Louis Mo., stopping two days at Cincinnati, having travelled by stage and private conveyance to Hillsboro, Illinois.

The prairies of Illinois were then in all their primative glory, stretching out many miles in all directions, grass and flowers beneath, and the Heavens above, no houses, farms, roads, and often not a tree as far as the eyes could see. A grand sight to the newcomer. Every now and then a herd of deer bounding off gracefully over the vast plain as you travel on, and numerous flocks of prarie chickens making things lively for you.

I landed at my Father's house, in Hillsboro Ill. on the 24th day of July 1838, just eight years and two months from the time I left home in No. Carolina as a poor farmers boy, for Gettysburg, to study for the ministry, during all-which time I had not seen my parents, or any of the family, and was now Pastor of the Lutheran Church of Frederick Maryland.

I found a large number of old neighbors & friends in this part of the State, who had emigrated from Carolina, and I spent a month among them, preaching almost every day in some school-house or private home.

The Rev. Daniel Scherer had come to Hillsboro in the fall of 1832 and had been looking after the "Lost Sheep" of our "Household of Faith" in almost all parts of Southern & Central Illinois.

The first settlement of Lutherans was made in Ill., Union Co., 1817, in the Southern part of the State, and a few years later, settlements began to be made in Montgomery County. The first Lutheran Church, some five miles from Jonesboro, called St. Johns. It was of logs, not unlike the Log Cabins of the Pioneers. A neat frame Church House in which I, myself, had preac..., now occupies the same site, and is still called St. Johns.

The first Lutheran Minister that ever set foot in Illinois soil, was the Rev. Daniel Walcher, a licentiate of the Synod of No. Carolina. He made a visit to this State in the summer of 1825, especially to the settlements of Union County, spending several months with these people, preaching for them in the German Language, Baptizing their Children, & comforting them by the Word of God.

He traveled the whole distance from Carrabus County, No. Carolina, and home again on horseback. I remember to have heard him preach in Carolina when I was a boy, and tell about the country and the people, & relate some of his adventures and "hair breadth" escapes, which he had made, especially in crossing rivers & swamps, and how one night he was compelled to camp out alone, having lost his way and unable to find a house, he & his faithful black horse, came near being devoured by wolves. Fortunately he came to a place where some one had camped the night before, and left some fire. A pack of wolves came and howled around him, and the only way he kept them off was by gathering sticks of wood and keeping a large fire blazing all night.

This man later removed to Montgomery County and lived on a farm, the land adjoining the Corporation of what is now the City of Litchfield, but then a wild prarie.

He died and is buried not far from this place (Elmwood Cemetery) (Land donated by the Walchers).

I preached in a lone school house (standing) on this same spot where this city of 5,600 inhabitants is now located (Litchfield)

Not long after Mr. Walcher left Union County, a European German Minister named Shoenberg, also from No. Carolina, whom I remembered personally as having staid for two weeks at my Father's home, visited these peopel and became their Pastor. I think he was the first Lutheran Pastor to settle in this State, an educated man, had something of a Library, & spent several years here preaching in the German Language. He had no family, & after a time left his Library & some property & started down the Mississippi on a trip to New Orleans, intending to be gone some months, but he never returned, and as far as I've been able to learn, no one knows what became of him.

Hi,

I research the Troutman family of NC. Two Troutman brothers married two Walcher sisters. These were Jacob Troutman (1788-1829) and Peter Troutman (c1790-c1855), sons of Peter Troutman (c1761-1806) and Catherine Lingle. Jacob Troutman married Christina Walcher (c1795-1850) and Peter Troutman married Margaret Walcher (c1794-bef Feb 1829). Peter Troutman married Elizabeth Culp after Margaret's death.

Jacob and Christina had 6 children who lived to adulthood. I have seen some databases listing more children for Jacob Troutman and Christina Walcher, but they are confused with other Jacob Troutmans who lived in the area. In 1824, Jacob was security for the guardianship of the children of Frederick Walcher, his wife's uncle. Jacob Troutman died in 1829, leaving Christina pregnant with their last child, Sarah Mariah Troutman. Christina died in 1850, just before the census was taken. She is in the 1850 Mortaility Census of Cabarrus Co, NC, it says she was a widow, 54 yrs old, died of pneumonia in June 1850. Her oldest son, John Absalom Troutman, was appointed administor of her estate by the Cabarrus Co, NC court. In the 1850 Census, there is a household headed by John Absalom Troutman with his siblings, Jacob Eli, Christina Rebecca, and Sarah Mariah. The other two children of Jacob Troutman and Christina Walcher were in MOntgomery Co, IL in 1850 - Mary Ann Troutman, wife of George File, and Simeon Troutman. Soon after the 1850 Census, all but John Absalom moved to Montgomery Co, IL. The following are Cabarrus court records:

Oct 1824. Walcher, Frederick dec'd. Daniel & Leah Walcher orphans. George Lingle guardian with Phillip Waggoner & Jacob Troutman security Oct 1829. Jacob Troutman, deceased. Administration to Christina Troutman.
Apr 1830. Jacob Troutman, deceased. Christena Troutman year's allowance.
Oct 1831. Peggy Troutman, deceased. Administration to Peter Troutman. Peter Culp, security.
Oct 1831. Monroe & Eliza Troutman. Peter Troutman guardian.
April 1845. Monroe Troutman, orphan of Peter. Jacob Isenhour guardian.
April 1845. Monroe Troutman, orphan of Peter.
Jul 1850. John A. Troutman appointed administrator of Christina Troutman, dec'd.

Peter Troutman and Margaret Walcher had one or maybe two kids. Monroe Thomas Troutman was definitely their son. The Eliza Troutman in the Oct 1831 court record may have been Margaret's daughter born out of wedlock before she married Peter. Note that the court records call Monroe Troutman an orphan, even though his father was alive. This is actually fairly common. What was meant is that Monroe TRoutman stood to inherit from from his mother's side of the family, namely the estate of his grandfather, Henry Walcher. Frederick Walcher (who I believe was a son of Henry Walcher) and George Barringer were the administrator's of the estate of Henry Walcher. In a 1842 deed in Cabarrus Co, NC, Peter Troutman sold the title to his land to Frederick Walcher and George Barringer for one dollar. Apparently, Peter Troutman had borrowed money from his father-in-law, Henry Walcher. Because of this debt, Monroe Troutman would not get anything. So, to protect Monroe's share of the inheritance, Peter gave up the title for the land. The wording of the deed says that if Peter paid the money he owed the estate in a certain amount of time, he would get the title to his land back. Otherwise, Frederick Walcher and George Barringer would sell the land to pay back the estate, which is what ended up happening. The deed does not mention Margaret or her children by name. Here is a quote: "... whereas the said George Barringer and Frederick Walcher as the adminstrators of the estate of the late Henry Walcher deceased late of the said county of Cabarrus as on record will appear and whereas the said Peter Troutman had married one of the daughters of the said Henry Walcher - and the said daughter the wife of the said Peter had died before and in the lifetime of the said Henry Walcher, her father, having 2 children now alive, one illegitimate and born before the marriage of the said Peter with the daughter of the said Henry Walcher and the other born in wedlock being the son of the said Peter in lawful marriage as aforesaid... ". Normally, when a child's mother died and the father was still living and the child inherited some money or land from the mother's side of the family, the court appointed a guardian for the child other than the father to hold onto the money or land until the child came of age. One more thing on Margaret Walcher - I found her baptism record at Organ Lutheran Ch in Rowan Co, NC. The birthdate is not given, but she was baptized on 14 Nov 1794 as Peggy Walker, daughter of Henry Walker, with P. Karel & wife (Peter Corl and wife Anna Eve Troutman) as sponsors. Henry had another dau baptized at Organ Lutheran. Rosina Walker was born 13 Jan 1796 and baptized 12 Mar 1796, dau of Henry Walker, Mich. Ritchie & wife sponsors. I did not find any other baptismal records for children of Henry Walcher, but I was not looking very hard either.

Frederick Walcher (Henry's son) married Delila Blackwelder 22 Sep 1827 in Cabarrus, the marriage bond spells his name as "Walker".

There is a deed in Cabarrus from April 1831 between "Christina Troutman widow of Jacob Troutman deceased" and Frederick Walcher in which Christina sold her share of the estate of Henry Walcher deceased to Frederick Walcher for $100. The land of Henry Walcher is described as lying on Dutch Buffalo and Coldwater Creeks.

None of the records I found spell out the relationship between Frederick Walcher and Henry, Christina, and Margaret Walcher, but I am pretty sure he was Henry's son (a little confusing, since Henry also had a brother named Frederick).

I have one other Walcher connection through my Bushart line. Elizabeth Bushart (sister of my ancestor, Henry Bushart) married Daniel D. Ridenhour, who was the son of Catherine Walcher and Nicholas Ridenhour. Catherine Walcher was a child of Adam Walcher, along with Henry and Frederick.

I have seen info that says Adam Walcher died in Montgomery Co, IL in 1801. This is very, very unlikely. Illinois did not become a state until 1818, and Montgomery County, IL was not formed until 1821. A lot of his descendants wound up in Montgomery Co, IL. I think that area of Illinois was still controlled by Indians in 1801. It is a lot more likely that Adam Walcher died in Montgomery Co, NC. Stanly Co, NC was formed from Montgomery Co, NC in 1841. Likely, Adam Walcher died in the part of Montgomery Co, NC that later became Stanly Co, NC. Stanly Co, NC is right next to Cabarrus county. Robert E. Burke
